Pacifica Teen-agers Aid Air Force In Alaska Flood Evacuation Mission

By MAJ. DONNA STARR, CAP
Pacifica Squadron 102

Four Pacifica teen-agers have returned from Eielson Air Force Base near Fairbanks, Alaska, where for four days they assisted the air force in flood rescue operations.

Civil Air Patrol cadets Steve Bengle, Wayne Hawkes, Christine Morello and Tom Hawkes were in Alaska attending their summer encampment tour of duty when flood waters rose to disaster heights in nearby Fairbanks, leaving the air base one of the few high points in the area.

Regular classes and schedules were dropped as 115 cadets from northern California pitched in to assist in evacuation of flood victims. Then as the water continued to rise, they joined in the fight to keep vital runways free of water so the flow of needed supplies would not be stopped.

As food and space in the overcrowded air base became short, the cadets were ordered to return home by California Wing Commander Col. R. H. Gaver, after being highly commended by the Eielson Air Force Base commander.

The teeners from Pacifica Squadron No. 102 of the Civil Air Patrol boarded their giant C-124s at Hamilton Air Force Base August 12. After refueling in Washington, they arrived in Alaska prepared for ten days of classes and drill.

Cadets from all over California were processed, assigned to barracks and scheduled for classes. Other than a continual rain, the "first day" proceedings were routine, the cadets said.

The second day the rain caused buses to become stuck in the mud and water in lower areas.

By afternoon the first of the refugees began to arrive. Cadet volunteers were called out of classes to help receive the evacuees. That evening the call went out for cadets to man pumps, and assist in the operations, and to babysit the dozens of small children that were arriving.

Of the 340 teen-age California cadets attending the session, about one-third were girls. They were the first to volunteer to assist with refugees and for office duty.

As space became scarce, the cadets were moved into smaller quarters; three barracks of boys were moved into a single barrack.

The girls were doubled up with their senior officers, and beds and personal belongings were removed by cadet girls, as the boys turned out to fill sand bags.

As the water began to rise on the base, the cadets' classes — any pretense of schedules — were dropped. The cadets recall that desperate attempts were made to keep roads ito the base open, and runways clear.

Thirteen-year-old boys, away from home for the first time, volunteered to man shovels and pumps to keep vital areas as dry as possible.

The three Pacifica boys — ages 16, 18 and 20 — worked at every thing from shoveling, mopping — even babysitting — with such willingness that they were personally commended by members of the California headquarters staff.

FOUR PACIFICA CIVIL Air Patrol cadets who went to Alaska for routine summer Air Force training, have just returned home to Pacifica after working in the Fairbanks flood area at Eielson Air Force Base. "Eielson was like an Island in the middle of a large lake," said cadets Tom Hawkes, Christine Morello, Wayne Hawkes and Steve Bengle, all of the Pacifica Squadron 102. They were among the 340 California cadets who helped keep the base operating and assisted evacuating flood victims.

A Robbery, Kidnap Drama In S.S.F. Market

Three South San Francisco policemen wrested a revolver from a young robber-kidnaper Sunday night, and freed his 13-year-old hostage as a crowd of bystanders watched the drama unfold.

Officers James LaChance, Bill Wright and Douglas McCool took a .38-caliber revolver from Andrew Perez Alforque, 19, on a slope in the Parkway area shortly after he held up the Purity Market at 508 Linden Avenue.

Witnesses said Officer LaChance "distracted the robber's attention," and the other two policemen grabbed him from behind, freeing the hostage, a young girl.

Alforque fired one shot during the scuffle, police said, but the bullet went wild.

Alforque entered the crowded supermarket at 7:05, according to police, and demanded the register receipts from several clerks. He was wearing a paper bag over his head, and brandishing the gun.

As he collected cash from the registers, a customer telephoned police from the rear of the store, Alforque was still in the store when officers arrived.

He fired one shot through a glass window at the front of the

BEATING VICTIM?

Patient Won't Tell Cause of Injuries

The mystery deepened around an attractive Negro girl lying in Mary's Help Hospital today with a possible skull fracture.

Except for her name — Marlene Burton — the apparent victim of a severe beating refuses to co-operate with investigators.

Since jumping from a car at a Daly City service station early Sunday, the girl has muttered only her name — nothing else.

An attendant at the station told police a car pulled into the station shortly after 3 a.m. and while he was servicing the vehicle the girl jumped screaming from the car and asked for help.

As the attendent rushed to the girl's aid, the car roared away.

Shortly before police arrived on the scene, the car returned and a huge man, described as 6 foot, 200 pounds and wearing a blue suit, emerged and demanded the return of the girl.

When he was informed police were on their way to the station, the man jumped back into the car and drove off a second time.

The girl has remained silent and will not tell police who the man was, how she was injured or any other details surrounding the accident.

Police said the girl was in her late teens or early twenties.

Committee Is Created To Publicize Transit Plan

Creation of a citizens committee to publicize rapid transit and inform the public of the proposed transit concept for San Mateo County received the endorsement yesterday of the directors of the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority.

As proposed by WBRTA Manager John C. Lilly, it will be the objective of the committee to "develop a legal, effective, economical program leading to the widespread knowledge of the existence, content and implications of an adopted master transit plan for San Mateo County."

Lilly suggests that the committee be appointed following a series of public meetings during August and September of 1968 to hear the opinion of the public concerning the master transit plan proposal.

the committee would serve from October, 1968, to November, 1969, with its main effort concentrated on publicizing the WBRTA plan prior to the scheduled March, 1969, public vote on adoption of the plan.

A subcommittee of the WBRTA board will decide on the size of the committee and suggest names for membership. Nomination sheets will be distributed to board members next June.

Director Jean Fassler questioned if the citizens committee was the proper method to "get the word to the masses." Director James Fitzgerald commented, however, that "the engineers have to give us a good job and the rest is easy."

Lilly noted that since the committee would be advocating voter approval of the master transit proposal through various media its operation must be financed from sources other than public funds.

One of the major factors of the committee members will be to serve as individuals and not as representatives of organizations, Lilly states in his proposal. Further details as to the committee's precise functions will be forthcoming, the manager indicated.

D.C. Officer Is Bopped

A Daly City man was arrested and booked for assault after he allegedly hit a policeman who was attempting to quell a family disturbance at the man's Skyline Boulevard home.

Police arrested Larry Satter on charges of assaulting a police officer and booked him into the new civic center jail.

Shortly after putting him in a cell, Satter started a fire in his bedding—filling the building with smoke, police said.

According to police, three officers, Dennis Sheehy, Mike Nelson and Dennis Pinnatore, arrived at the Satter home shortly after 3 a.m. to quiet a reported disturbance.

While talking to the couple, Satter allegedly turned and struck officer Sheehy.

A Tank For Explosive OK'd

South San Francisco planning commissioners granted a request from the General Printing Co. to permit construction of four "explosive liquid" tanks in the city's industrial district Monday.

The firm will construct the tanks on a site at 20 South Linden Avenue.

Commissioners restricted size of the tanks to 6,000-gallon capacity, upon recommendation of the city's fire department.

The firm had requested permits for 8,000-gallon tanks.

The permits also require that a six-foot fence be built around the tanks to contain the liquids in the event of leakage.

Commissioners also granted a variance to Airland Freight, Inc., to permit construction of a warehouse at 299 Lawrence Avenue in the industrial district, and approved a parcel map submitted by Larry Schwab representing the subdivision and rearrangement of three lots in Alta Vista 3 at the corner of Conmur Street and Dianne Court.

No Hike In Rate At SSF

South San Francisco councilmen set the city's tax rate at 91 cents per $100 assessed valuation Monday, the same rate in effect during the past fiscal year.

A separate rate of $1.15 per $100 assessed valuation was established for the West Park and Parkways Maintenance District.

The council also approved a resolution adopting a budget for expenditure of state highway funds at the meeting.

In other business, councilmen approved a plan to require two employes at Orange Memorial Park to work one day each weekend "on a voluntary basis."

Frank Gillis, business representative for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes' Union in the city, spoke out against the plan two weeks ago, stating, "It will soon be changed to a mandatory split shift."

Robert Maxey, head of the city's recreation department, proposed the plan as a means to provide service at the park "during the times when it is most heavily used, on the weekends."

Two employes in the parks department have volunteered

Federal Man To Rule On Road Route

A controversy between San Francisco and the state over the Junipero Serra Freeway route will be ruled on by Federal Highway Administrator Lowell Bridwell.

Mayor John F. Shelley was advised Monday that Bridwell would arrive Thursday to seek a compromise in routing of a four-mile section of the freeway through the city-owned Crystal Springs watershed.

"I believe we are now prepared to go forward with a solution which we hope will be reasonably satisfactory to all parties," wrote Transportation Secretary Alan Boyd in a letter to the mayor.

Shelley replied he was encouraged by Boyd's statements. He reasserted the city's "desire to avoid litigation in the courts which would be costly for both city and state."

A final attempt to settle the 10-year-old controversy apparently was triggered last week when the California Public Utilities Commission gave unanimous approval to maintain all but 3,300 of the 23,000-acre watershed as a prime wilderness area.

The 3,300 acres will be developed for public recreation uses that will not endanger the city's water supply.

Boyd made it clear he has given Bridwell authority to sette the controversy. The federal government supplies 90 per cent of the funds to the state for the freeway construction as part of the federal interstate highway system.

Council Urges State Push Cabrillo Road Funds Might Be Available Next Spring

The State Division of Highways is expected to begin final construction on the new Cabrillo Highway between Junipero Serra Freeway and St. Francis Boulevard as soon as funds are made available — perhaps next spring.

The project will cost some $1.5 million and will consist mainly of surfacing the roadway which was graded some time ago.

Upon completion, the State will turn over control of Alemany Boulevard (Route 1) to Daly City and assume control over the new east-west link, including a section of St. Francis Boulevard, it has been learned.

At a study session Monday night, the council expressed their desire to accept Alemany Boulevard and urged the state to move ahead with the Cabrillo Highway project.

City engineer Arthur Reschke said the Cabrillo Highway, which will eventually link up the new freeway with Skyline Boulevard, will "not likely be

Man Held in Row With Coast Police

Ivan Eugene Reefer, 31, of 932 Corona Drive, Pacifica, was arrested last Tuesday by police. He allegedly flipped a cirgarette into the face of a patrolman investigating a report of a family dispute.

Pacifica patrolman Ed Bell, with officer James Hall, responded to the domestic call at 11:20 p.m. They were told Reefer had shoved his wife, Ree, 40, through a glass shower door.

The woman, Bell said, suffered three cuts that required 11 stitches on her left arm. She drove to Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City for treatment, he noted.

When the two patrolmen attempted to question Mrs. Reefer about the family dispute in the Linda Mar region home, Reefer allegedly pushed Bell through a doorway, then grabbed Hall by the jacket.

Bell said that as Hall demanded his releassse, Reefer flipped a lighted cigarette into Hall's face, just missing an eye, and causing a small burn on his forehead.

Hall then attempted to grab Reefer, but was pushed back; soon both were wrestling on a bed, with Hall finally able to subdue and handcuff Reefer.

During the scuffle inside, an 18-year-old daughter cared for the Reefer's two-weeks-old infant outside.

Another daughter had contacted police about the family dispute, using a neighbor's telephone, Bell said, because Reefer had ripped out his own.

Reefer was booked on a charge of felonious assault upon a police officer.

Nudely, He Contemplates The Scene

It was a sunny day Monday in San Bruno.

Down at the County Park on Crystal Springs Road, the birds were singing, and 19-year-old Arthur Lombardi, 151 Balboa Way, was contemplating the peaceful scene in a glade by a creekbank, in the nude.

Two park employes happened onto the one-man nudist operation about 3 p.m., police said, and Lombardi was turned over to authorities and charged with indecent exposure.

He was arraigned yesterday in North County Municipal Court.

Pacifica Teen-agers Aid in Flood Rescue

tion leader and helped direct the filling and placing of sandbags to protect the flight line and other areas such as the kitchens and operations centers.

As call after call for volunteers went out for shovelmen, pump manners, radio operators, typists, clerks, drivers, first aid and aircraft handlers went out, the teen-agers answered the calls.

During one 20-hour period, the C.A.P. personnel were responsible for manning over 70 per cent of the routine base operations, freeing the air force personnel for duty in Fairbanks.

When the rapidly rising flood waters inundated the army base it was evacuated to Eielson, once again the doubling up began.

As in any large disaster, incidents of personal courage and sm allacts of heroism get lost in the over-all picture of the event.

The Pacifica cadets were all "veterans" of at least five civil defense drills in the regular course of their training at home.

They were surprised how much they had learned that was used to great advantage in an actual emergency. The real thing, however, taught them how much more could be learned and planned in case disaster should strike at home.

Cadette Chrstine Morello remarked at how fast the water rose — and how little could be done to stop it. The houses, however, remained standing, although under water.

She noted that in case of a tidal wave — the most feared possibility in Pacifica, "The homes would be swept away and there would be no time to carry out many of the plans we now have for disaster in Pacifica."

She stressed that residents of low-lying areas "must understand the urgency of evacuating their areas when warned of disaster. You have to be in a situation like this to begin to understand how important disaster training is," she explained.

The cadets arrived home in Pacifica tired and dirty, but in "good spirts." Their duffel bags were lighter because of the donations of socks, sweaters, underwear and books. They gave aid to refugees who arrived bringing only what they wore, and an occasional dog.

Many were in shock the cadets said.

"You had to handle them very carefully when you saw signs of shock," cadet Steve Bengle said.

Many were in shock the cadets said. "You had to handle them very carefully when you saw signs of shock," cadet Steve Bengle said.

"They couldn't be ordered around sharply or they would go to pieces. We handled them by making 'suggestions' and assisting them by hand. But what can you expect — they had just lost everything they owned."

Cadets quickly improvised diapers and cribs, the little walkie-talkies the cadets used for radio training became vital links in directing operations, and every skill the young people had was greatly appreciated.

"I didn't know just how much I knew," cadet Wayne Hawkes stated.

"You'd be surprised how much I found out I knew about pumping water, when the runways were in danger."

He said he was one of the many who worked to keep the world's second longest jet runway in landing and take-off condition to evacuate the sick and helpless flood victims, as well as bring in the large equipment such as pumps, water purification plants, earth movers, on the air forces' giant cargo planes. "Those big babies needed all the runway we could keep clear," Hawkes stated.

Some of the cadets managed four hours of sleep out of 24; some had even less, but the strength and courage of youth, coupled with the willingness and training they brought with them, gave may a respect for teen-agers they never had before.

"What is really important," they all agreed, "is not what we did in Alaska but how much we have learned that can help our people at home, if we should ever be in this situation. All of us simply did our best."

for the weekend work "for personal reasons," Maxey said.

The public hearing on a petition to rezone a 180-acre tract in Westborough from a "U" district to a "planned community" was continued again Monday, along with several other hearings pertaining to the Caesar-Callan development.

A scheduled hearing on the South San Francisco Industrial Park Associations' request for a ban on "on-street" parking in the industrial district was postponed at the request of the petitioners.

City Attorney John Noonan said a conference meeting with the industrialists has been arranged "to further consider details" of the parking proposal.

Some firms in the industrial park are opposed to the on-street parking ban, and contend there will be no parking space available for their employes if the plan is adopted.

The city's planning commission recommended approval of the parking proposal several weeks ago, and adopted new regulations requiring more off-street parking in the industrial area.

Council Urges State Push Cabrillo Road

finished" for at least another three years.

Money was the primary reason for the delay, Rescke said.

It will cost an estimated $3-$5 million to complete the road and related interchanges in the area.

Until the state undertakes the program, traffic will be required to use a portion of St. Francis Boulevard.

St. Francis Boulevard will be "modified" to handle the increased traffic flow. Two intersection signals will be installed to control vehicles coming off and going onto the new roadway.

Reschke said with the opening of two other east-west links — Hickey and Westborough boulevards — considerable northbound traffic will be diverted off Alemany Boulevard.

City Manager Edward Frank said an estimate of the amount of traffic using the new roads "was difficult to figure, because motorists are funny — they might use one road for awhile and then change their minds and go the other way."

Meanwhile, engineer Reschke has called for an updating of the so-called "Nolte Report" for the county.

The report, conducted in 1962, deals with roadways throughout San Mateo County.

In a letter to the council, Reschke said "the addition of a number of new college sites, residential areas and business developments which were not considered when the Nolte Report was made, results in this report now being out-of-date."

He said construction of the huge new Serramonte Shopping Center was an example of one such development.

Reschke recommended Daly City indicate its support, in the form of a statement from the council, to the Greater Highways and Committee and Subcommittee which is now considering such a study in the area.

The Nolte report covered location and cost of roads in the county.

Implementation of the report would have cost an estimated $38 million and was voted down during a 1962 bond election.

However, the report was instrumental in helping Daly City plan its roadways, councilman Michael DeBernardi said Monday.

"I think (the report) really helped us in Daly City, but I don't think any future such study in our area would be of benefit to us at this time," DeBernardi said.

City Planner Edward Lawson said a joint study was being conducted by Santa Clara and San Mateo counties with the express purpose of mapping out future roadways and their effects on both areas.

store, then grabbed the girl as the three officers approached.

Alforque repeatedly threatened to shoot the girl, and alternately pointed the gun at her head and at the policemen as they walked along with him for several blocks.

He dragged the girl up the slope of the hill as the policemen and 20 or 30 onlookers watched from below. Minutes later, officers seized Alforque and freed the girl.

Alforgue, who resides at 2712 Harrison Street, San Francisco, has been visiting relatives in South San Francisco during the past few days, police said.

He reportedly stole the gun from the home he was visiting.

He is charged with armed robbery, kidnap, assault with a deadly weapon and grand theft.

Police recovered about $950 taken in the robbery.

2 S.S.F. Men Jailed After Police Chase

Two South San Francisco men and an 18-year-old were jailed Thursday following a police chase in Burlingame.

Highway Patrolmen John Hoffman and James Hughes said they were on El Camino Real when a car came by at 55 miles an hour. They went after it, chased it through the parking lot of a drive-in restaurant and finally got it stopped on a side street.

The officers said they saw several beer cans fly out the windows during the chase.

Taken into custody were Randolph Leister, 31, garage attendant, of 625 Myrtle Avenue; John A. Adams, 21, of 813 Miller Street, and Lawrence T. Jelmyerm, 18, of 135 Manzanita Avenue.

The officers said Adams broke away but Hoffman chased after him and caught him. While the arrests were being made, the officers reported, Jelmyer took a swing at Hughes but only grazed him.

Leister and Adams were booked at county jail on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a mionr. Adams and Jelmyer were also booked for resisting arrest and being drunk in an auto.

They posted $276 bail each and are to be arraigned at 10 a.m. August 25.

LOUANNE HEATH

(Family Life Columnist)

This past spring was probably one of the busiest and most unforgetable in Pamela Jean Cote's life!

From the early days of May, when the press of activities that are a part of a graduating senior's routine began until she and her new husband, Melvin Wayne Stinnett, moved into their first home in San Mateo, the intervening weeks were a Whirlwind.

Pamela, despite all the flurry and excitement, graduated with honors for maintaining one of the highest grade point averages in her class and was awarded the Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizenship Award, the Bank of America Award for Business and a $100 scholarship from the Oceana P-TA for leadership.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert O. Cote of San Bruno Pamela is the sister of James Lee Cote, currently serving in the Navy. The family arrived in the Bay Area five years ago from San Jose where Pamela had attended Mount Pleasant elementary school and Fred Martin elementary school. She attended Pacific Heights elementary school in San Bruno before enrolling in Oceana.

THE FOUR YEARS at Oceana were happy ones for Pamela who lead an active social life.

"I am going to miss the personal relationships with teachers, administrators and school friends. High School gave me some of my personal security and I'll miss that, too," Pamela commented.

During her time at Oceana Pamela was active in the Girls Athletic Association, The Future Teachers of America, the Future Business Leaders of America, the French Club, the Horizon Club and served a semester as a cadet teacher. During her senior year she was the secretary of the Inter Club Council and represented her school during G.A.A. meets with neighboring schools and took an active part in the Town Hall meeting. She enjoyed sociology and the opportunity for insight into her own emotions as well as the chance to develop a better understanding of others.

HIGH SCHOOL education is the first step toward good citizenship, in Pamela's opinion.

"I feel that high school graduates should become productive members of society, whether it be in a career or in a home. She must set a goal and strive to reach it. Something that will benefit her and also, at the same time, help someone else. I feel that everyone should do something to help someone else. We should not live just for ourselves!" Pamela explained.

This fall Pamela will begin her studies at the College of San Mateo where she will follow a general education course until she transfers to San Francisco State College where she will work for a credential in elementary education.

A career in education fits well into Pamela's philosophy of a life of service to others.

"I am attaining this by working and going on to college. In college I will obtain a teaching credential, thereby helping the students I will be teaching. Right now I'm doing this by keeping my husband happy. I think marriage is the greatest institution in the world," Pamela said.

Cat Burned In Pacifica

A cat was burned fatally and some areas experienced electrical shortage last Tuesday. The feline jumped upon a transformer.

Pacific firemen said a cat had climbed the utility pole behind 272 Catalina, in the Fairmont district.

"The Goodness and the Wrath of God," based on the first two chapters of Romans, is to be Pastor Walter Stram's 11 a.m. message, Sunday at the Peninsula Church of Christ (Christian) meeting at Angus Avenue and Mason, San Bruno.

Baptists To Hear Guest

The congregation of Westside Baptist Church, 3322 Crestmoor Drive, San Bruno, will hear pulpit guest the Rev. Loren Endsley, minister of visitation at the Willow Glen Baptist Church, 1292 Minnesota Avenue in San Jose, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. services Sunday.

Reverend Endsley, besides his duty at the church, is on the faculty of the Valley Christian School, at Los Gatos.

During the adult worship hour, a nursery is provided for babies and toddlers. A Primary Church service is conducted during the latter portion of the adult worship hour for children ages four through seven, by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson.

Special music for this service will be provided by the adult choir. Mrs. Roy King will be at the Baldwin organ, and Mrs. Ed Brunzell at the piano.

At 7:45 p.m. today the prayer and Bible study hour will be held at the home of Robert Anderson, 468 Oak, San Bruno.

Cooperative Bruno Plan

San Bruno's police department will enter into "cooperative agreement" with law enforcement agencies in adjacent cities under a plan approved by the city council Monday.

Councilmen voted approval of the mutual aid agreement at the recommendation of Police Chief Russell Cunningham.

Birthday Sabbath

Birthday Sabbath will be observed by Congregation B'nai Israel on Friday starting at 8:30 p.m.

Rabbi Solomon A. Shore and Cantor Jeno Friedmann will conduct services that will honor those Sunday School children whose birthdays fall in August.

To be called to the pulpit are Gary and Joseph Bonveniate, Rachel Dobrow, Sharon Gordon, Craig Kroner, Billy Papelbaum, Martin Podolsky and Debbi Schlesinger.

Sunday, at 11 a.m., prospective members are invited to attend a brunch, at which time facilities of the congregation will be discussed and a tour of the Temple and classrooms will be taken.

Reservations may be made by calling the Temple office, 756-5430 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Next Monday, Congregation B'nai Israel will host a meeting of the Synagogue Council of Greater San Francisco.

$1,000 Gone From Safe

A safe containing $1,000 in cash and checks was stolen last Tuesday from Key Pharmacy on San Mateo Avenue in San Bruno, police said.

The safe, which was mounted on wheels, was rolled out a rear door of the building.

New High School to Open in Bruno

A new high school will open in San Bruno this fall, and if past performance of its staff and students is an indication, the city will soon be proud of its association with the San Mateo Union High School District "continuation" program.

The new facility, to be known as Peninsula High School, will replace the continuation school operated on a temporary basis at Millbrae during the past year and a half.

The district has obtained a long-term lease on a parcel of "excess property" at the San Bruno Naval Facility, and 150 students will attend classes in eight portable buildings.

Enrolled at the new school are young persons who have experienced "problems of adjustment" at the district's regular high schools.

These "problems of adjustment" may represent anything from "a more or less serious brush with the law, to something no more ominous than an inability to participate in physical education," according to Paul Baldwin, principal at the new high school.

"Many people do not understand the exact nature of our program," he said. "These students are not forced to attend the school, and it is definitely not a place for students who are in any way hopeless."

"It is simply a special high school for students with special problems."

Baldwin and Dan Stone, student counselor at the new school, said students are carefully screened and selected for the program, "because it costs the district about twice as much to send a student here as it would cost to leave him in the regular high school system."

"If a student were determined to be doomed to failure anyway, it would be senseless to waste the additional money required for the special program," the administrators said.

Actually, many of the students enrolled at the school are "highly intelligent young people with excellent potential, who simply cannot adapt themselves to the conventional educational system," according to Stone and Baldwin.

Teaching at Peninsula High, will be a staff of regular high school teachers, who have volunteered, because of special interest in the students.

"The only special qualification required for the job is motivation," Baldwin said. "A teacher here will be instructing in as many as five different subjects, and will need to prepare individual lesson plans for 15 to 20 students."

The curriculum at PHS will be strictly academic, with no physical education classes offered.

"A diploma from this school will be identical to those issued at other district high schools, and the curriculum is the same, with the exception of the physical education program," the principal said.

"It is definitely not a vocational high school."

The term "continuation school" is an old one, derived from a 1920 state legislative act, and is misleading in its modern application.

"The program originally dealt only with students forced to drop out of regular high school in order to work," administrators said.

Today, the "continuation" concept has been broadened to include programs for students with a wide variety of problems.

"The only criteria for referring students to this school is to demonstrate that they will benefit more from the program here than they would from the regular high school program," Baldwin said.

The stated objective of the new school is to graduate the students, or to provide remedial service enabling them to return to regular high school and graduate.

During the past year and a half, 19 students have received diplomas through the program. Of the 19, about eight have been accepted at colleges and junior colleges, and one former student, an 18-year-old girl, is a premedical student at UCLA.

The student body voted last year to organize a student council and elect class officers, and school spirit "is equal if not superior" to the interest displayed by students at the district's regular high school.

Commenting at the end of the second semester last year, students generally had high praise for the school's program.

"Each teacher here knows exactly what your special kinds of problems are," a 16-year-old sophomore boy said. "They know what you do know and what you don't know, and what you have trouble with."

"If you have some bad days or off days, or if you feel frustrated, the teachers here kind of know about it and why you are that way."

Another student said he learned more during one semester at the continuation school "than in all the rest of the time I was in high school."

There was considerable controversy when officials announced the temporary location of the school in Millbrae two years ago, and many residents expressed fears the neighborhood would be adversly affected by "incidents" at the institution.

During the past year and a half, there has been "no disturbance of any sort at the school," according to its officials.

San Bruno Man Wins Promotion

Joseph J. Willis, of San Bruno, superintendent of transportation for Southern Pacific at its San Francisco headquarters since 1963, has been promoted to general superintendent of transportation, the railroad announced today.

In his new capacity, Willis will direct scheduling and be responsible for performance of all trains, freight and passenger, on the entire Southern Pacific system. He also will assume systemwide responsibility for distribution of freight cars, piggyback trailers and containers.

Willis was succeeded by O. D. (Dave) Goodwill, formerly assistant superintendent of Southern Pacific's San Joaquin Division headquartered at Bakersfield.

Willis joined Southern Pacific in 1940, progressing through a number of operating department positions in the San Joaquin Valley until 1953, when he was named trainmaster for the railroad's Western Division at Oakland. In 1959, he was named assistant superintendent of the San Joaquin Division and in 1961, assumed the same post on the Shasta Division. He became superintendent of transportation in 1963.

Willis attended the University of California and completed Stanford University's Transportation Management Program in 1960.

He and his wife Elizabeth and daughter Sandra Ann, 3, live at 2160 Rosewood Drive, San Bruno.

SSF Firm's New Office

Structural and civil engineering departments of Associated Construction and Engineering Company have moved into new quarters at 139 Mitchell Street, South San Francisco.

The rapid growth of new business, and the corresponding staff increase in the design, engineering and estimating departments, has made this expansion necessary, a spokesman said.

Associated Construction is headquartered at 127 Beacon Street, South San Francisco. The company's growth earlier had necessitated expansion of the electrical engineering department into offices at 498 Airport Boulevard, South San Francisco.

Unconscious Man Rescued From Blaze

Two neighbors carried Donald Thomas of 241 San Diego Street, Apt. 2, San Bruno, to fresh air from his "smoke-charged" living room where he lay unconscious Saturday.

The outside air immediately revived Thomas, San Bruno firemen said.

A stuffed chair caught fire and smoldered for sometime, causing an extremely thick smoke to fill Thomas's front room.

Neighbors, including Art Kinkade of Apartment 3, told firemen they saw smoke coming from the room about 8:15 p.m. Mrs. Olive Wastphal of Apartment 5 called the fire department and Kinkade and another man went into the smoke-filled Thomas apartment.

They found Thomas unconscious on the couch, about five feet from the burning chair, and carried him outside.

Damage was confined to a scorched rug and the chair, firemen said.

Thomas appeared to be unhurt. However, a small burn was discovered on his trousers. Thomas was unable to explain how it got there.

Cow Palace Aide Is Rodeo Star

Cecil Jones, veteran rodeo star, has been named again as secretary for the Grand National Rodeo, October 27 through November 5, according to John G. Brucato, president of the Cow Palace in Daly City.

A 15-year veteran of the "bumps and bruises" phase of rodeo life, Jones retired in favor of the administrative side of rodeos in 1948. His specialties had been brahma bull and bareback bronc riding and he was in contention for the National Championships in these events prior to being drafted for World War II. Following the war, Jones picked up his cowboy career and joined rodeo producer Harry Rowell as a member of the management staff in addition to competitive riding.

Jones has been secretary for many of the major rodeos in the country, including one year during which he was secretary for The Big Three—Grand National at the Cow Palace, the first National Finals at Dallas, Texas, and the World's Championship Rodeo at Madison Square Garden in New York City. He has been with the Cow Palace show since 1951.

Top cowboys from across the nation will compete at the ten-day Grand National for cash awards and added fees totaling approximately $48,000, the largest purse on the West Coast. Entries close October 21 at 5 p.m.

A special school children's rodeo will be held on opening day, Friday, October 27, at 10 a.m., with free admission for school children.

In addition a full-classification horse show, including the World's Championship Jumper Sweepstakes, will be featured, as will a spectacular all-star entertainment show each day in the arena.

Guest stars include Eva Gabor (October 27), Gomer Pyle (Jim Nabors) on October 28-29, Eddie Albert (October 30-31), Wayne Newton (November 1-2) and The Young Americans (November 3-4-5).

Crusade At Pacifica

The Kenneth Gaub Evangelistic Crusade will be held at Terra Nova High School in Pacifica at 7:30 p.m. beginning Tuesday.

The affair will continue through Saturday at the high school.

The Gaub group has performed throughout the United States and parts of the world.

Miss South San Francisco, Judy Ambler, will perform at the first night religious fete. She will sing appropriatte songs.

Amendment Significant, Ryan Says

An amendment to AB 1703 by Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan is being viewed as a significant landmark to home owners.

The amendment provides for the division of assessments for street and other public improvements and allocation of assessments to lots.

South San Francisco City Attorney John Nonnan said, "the amendment will be of great assistance to the City and Stonegate Ridge in the particular matter pending, and of immeasurable help to the housing industry."

The bill signed into law by the Governor will clarify the law regarding the division of assessments for street improvements, making it possible to allocate an assessment to a condominium estate which is similar to the division of assessments allocating assessment to an individual lot.

Assemblyman Ryan said, "Millions of people live and own property in this country today. This is a significant landmark in that developers can build homes that are most suited to the home owners' needs."

Fire Melts Telephone In Apartment

A hot fire that melted a telephone and a television set caused an estimated $1,700 to an apartment and another $1,100 to contents Saturday at 486 Milton Avenue, Apt. 2, San Bruno.

Firemen said when they arrived flames were coming out the front room window of the second-floor apartment occupied by Rick Wilson.

Wilson was not home.

The 11 p.m. fire apparently started in a couch. Firemen said it burned slowly, filling the apartment with thick smoke and generating heat throughout.

A smoldering rug and the couch were removed from the apartment.

Driver Held After Wild D.C. Chase

Daly City police arrested a San Francisco man early Thursday morning on suspicion of car theft, following a 100-mile-per-hour chase through city streets.

The chase ended when the suspect's stolen car skidded into a center street direction sign on Alemany Avenue, across the county line in San Francisco.

Arested by officers Don Cubic and James Barron, following a blocks-long foot chase, was Carl Corden, 21, of 235 Waller Street.

Corden allegedly told police he was "only a passenger" in the stolen vehicle and did not know the driver — who was able to elude police during the foot chase.

Police said the car owned by William F. Mathews, was stolen shortly after 3 a.m. from the front of 2570 30th Avenue in San Francisco.

Mathews happened to witness the theft and called police.

Shortly after receiving the all-points bulletin, officer Bill Moeller saw the car on Alemany Avenue and pulled it to the side of the roadway.

As the officer began questioning the occupants, the drive slammed the door and sped away, with Moeller in hot pursuit.

A radio alert brought other police units into the chase.

As the driver of the stolen vehicle attempted to negotiate a turn off Alemany Avenue, the car went into a wide skid and smashed into the sign.

Both suspects jumped from the wreck and ran in opposite directions, police said.

'Superjets' Building At S.S.F. Airport

Groundbreaking for "the first building at San Francisco International Airport to be designed for superjets," will be held Thursday morning by American Airlines.

Richard Lambert, American's Vice President for freight, will officiate at ceremonies for the $1,200,000 building.

Lambert comments that the structure has been designed to accommodate the Boeing 747s, largest airliner in the sky, which American plans to use for its booming freight business.

The freight terminal will be fully automated, he said.

It will be located on the airport access road north of the main entrance, in an area becoming the center of airfreight business.

Disappointment

Grumbles Over Residency Rule

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Bitter disappointment was being aired in certain departments of Daly City as a result of the city council's decision to retain the so-called "residency requirement" for the second straight year.

The requirement stipulates that all city employes must move into the city within a specified period of time — usually 18 months from date of employment — after accepting their position.

For the past two years, the five member Personnel Board has recommended abolishing this ruling which some board members claim hampers recruitment efforts in the city.

The board has never been unanimous on its recommendation. In the last go-around it split four-one.

Although the ruling has caused grumbles from many employes it has had no noticeable effect on recruitment of employes, according to Daly City Personnel Analyst Ray Letsinger.

Letsinger said the results of a survey his staff conducted for the personnel board over the past two years revealed that of the 280 persons employed by the city, the residency requirement accounts for between three and four persons handing in their resignations each year and moving elsewhere.

"During the past two yearss about five persons left the city giving the residency requirement as the reason," Letsinger said.

However, of complaints stemming from opponents of the requirement are any indication of how many persons actually leave the city because of the ruling, but give other reasons upon leaving, "Then this figure would naturally be much higher," Letsinger explained.

He said there were undoubtedly several such cases each year.

During his survey of the board, Letsinger reviewed every letter of resignation covering the past two years and found "only a small percentage actually gave the residency requirement as cause for leaving."

A much higher percentage had been anticipated, he said.

In order to give the city a more accurate acount of why persons are leaving, a "detachment interview" should be put into effect, Letsinger felt.

"This way, we could sit down with the person and ask them why they are leaving. I think in this way we would get more honest answers," Letsinger said.

While all this "disenchantment with the city," as one official calls it, has been voiced, only one employee — a fireman — has resigned because of the ruling during the past two weeks.

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett said the council felt "if the city is good enough to work in, it's good enough to live in.

"After all, there should be a certain pride in living in the town that pays your salary," Lycett said, adding, "Can these persons who complain about the requirement say they 'didn't know' about it when they came to work for us? I hardly think so!"

Had Daly City abolished the residency requirement, it would have been a unique move — at least for San Mateo County.

All other cities along the Peninsula have this ruling, the only difference being in how long a new employee has before he must move into his respective community.

While the ruling has been branded "archaic" and "outdated," city employes will have to "learn to live with it or quit," one city official concluded.

THE POST Editorials and Features

EDITORIAL

Now It's the 'Unfriendly' Southern Pacific

THE erstwhile "Friendly Southern Pacific," which just last week had gotten another friendly 20 per cent fare boost for its good friends the commuters, has also slammed the door on the constructive efforts of the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority to co-operate with the railroad in solving or ameliorating the Peninsula's ever more pressing transit and traffic problems.

The railroad has categorically rejected any proposal to improve its commuter service by public subsidy, to allow use of its rights-of-way by a public rapid transit system, and even a suggestion for a study of the joint use of the rights-of-way if the S.P. could be relieved of any responsibility for serving commuters between San Francisco and San Jose.

In connection with the proposal to upgrade and modernize the existing commute service, the railroad told WBRTA the company's present service is adequate and that it would not accept a subsidy in any form. With respect to the use of the rights-of-way, the Southern Pacific responded that it requires these to carry out its present and future obligations as a Class I railroad subject to the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the California Public Utilities Commission. The suggestion that, from a long-range point of view, it might be advantageous to study joint use of the rights-of-way between San Francisco and San Jose (the Santa Clara County segment not being within the authority of the WBRTA) was summarily rejected.

In short, S.P. does not want any part of improving commute service or of helping the responsible communities along its trackage in efforts to provide better transit.

Its claim that the present commuter service is adequate is self-disproving — if it were adequate the commuters would be using it instead of choking the streets, highways and freeways trying to get from one city to another. Refusing the use of its rights-of-way, which are supposed to be used in the interests of the public convenience and necessity, represents a "dog in the manger" selfishness that could be costly to the public in obtaining alternate rights-of-way. Refusal to even entertain the possibility of studies, which might find a solution to the problem, is virtually contemptuous of the public interest.

If the Southern Pacific has any plans of its own for improving Peninsula transit it should reveal them now. If it has no such plans the rejection of the constructive efforts of the WBRTA appears to exhibit arrogance toward the people of the Peninsula.

Political Arena-ing

POLITICAL ARENA DEPT.: — Perhaps by the time you read this, Dear Reader, Mrs. Shirley T. Black will have (hopefully) made up her mind whether to enter that Congressional campaign or not.

Many North County republicans will be "surprised" if she doesn't jump into the scramble. Three weeks ago, the odds were going the other way. But after a series of personal visits and receptions attended by the personable Mrs. Black . . . well, the atmosphere changed.

Leave it to Daly Cityite McRobert Stewart to form the United Northern County Leaders for Earl (Whitemore). So you DID figure it out! The letters spell UNCLE — ouch!

WATCH FOR Assistant D. A. Bill Schumacher resigning his post to head the new College of San Mateo Police Science Department soon. Bill started up the ladder in D. C., and was a policeman (and a good one) for some seven years before getting his present position at the Northern Judicial District Court in SSF.

OUR GRAPEVINE TELLS us Julius Castelan, prominent D. C. democrat, led a motion for the D.C.-Colma Democratic Club to withdraw from the CDC — it was defeated 16-13.

AND DURING THE HEIGHT OF THE FIRE at the Brisbane Garbage dump, who should call us to hurry over and snap some pictures of the blaze? No it wasn't the PD! It was Luman Drake, publicity man for the Brisbane Citizens for Civic Progress (BCCP), vociferous opponent of the dump. HMMMM.

WE DID IT AGAIN! Put our little foot in our big mouth, that is! First we called William "POP" Savage "Doc" and then underestimated the love many people had for this early school pioneer.

Mrs. Lucille Reardon, a long-time resident of the area, called Savage "a loving man, who ruled with the rod."

She went on to say that no one has contributed more to educating "and understanding" local youngsters than "MR. SAVAGE" whom "no one called 'POP' except behind his back."

What we thought was a good pun (You wouldn't want to tell your friends you send your children to a SAVAGE school — Do you call the children LITTLE SAVAGE?) went over like a lead balloon.

The naming of a school after Savage was late in coming, Mrs. Reardon points out, to which we must agree. The question that now remains: Will the present generation leave behind anyone that has contributed as much to the future of this nation as William Savage?

SINCE THAT ARTICLE on the Baccala Club in D.C., many persons have asked for more information. Here it is: The club is a non-religious, non-political; non-this-and-that sort of club where businessmen and civic leaders simply get-together and dig into some of Frank (Toto) Spadarella's excellent cuisine. The only rules are that a member enjoy himself. When have you last heard of such a club? They are practically a thing of the past. By the way, the (closed) membership reads like a "Who's-Who" of Northern California.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: — Howcum D.C. officials continue to "overlook" those buses parking in a yellow zone, disrupting businesses on Templeton Street? Rumors have it that mechanics work on the buses in this area and storeowners must unload their vehicles elsewhere. We thought a "yellow zone" meant commercial loading, etc.???

POLITICAL AREA (cont.) — D. C. Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett denies the request for a charter change governing the election of county supervisors is a move by the city to oust supervisor Jean Fassler. In a recent newspaper article Millbrae City councilman James O'Conner, speaking to members of the Charter Change Committee, labeled the request just that!

He neglected to mention that members of the North County Council of Cities voted 35-4 to ask for the charter change.

Matter-of-fact, Lycett thinks O'Conner is "just plain sore" at the rest of the cities because they didn't elect him chairman of the council at a recent meeting. D.C.'s Frank Pacelli was given the honor.

Predictions are that a lot more mud will be slung before the Charter Meetings are over. And the oddsmakers favor those who say the item will never come before the voters — at least not for a long long time!

TEN Boy Scouts from Luxemburg, visiting in Pacifica while "enroute home" from the World Boy Scout Jamboree in Idaho, will be touring that coastside community today, Alaskan airline that urged, in the usual er Bernie Lake.

On the agenda are trips to fire departments and police hq. and an appearance at tonight's city council meeting. They'll receive individual proclamations of welcome from Mayor Cracé McCarthy when they get there. . . .

THOUGHT WE detected a whisp of hesitancy in the voice of a KNBR dj the other morning as he read a commercial for an Alaskan airline that urged, in the usually mind-moving, inducing language attendance via that airlines at the Alaska-67 event, when only moments before news dispatches describing the celebration site as "just about gone" as a result of the tragic Fairbanks flooding.

FOR SOME reason, we keep thinking this in terms of a joke we've heard before: the announcement at the Circle Star in San Carlos last Thurs., alerting the theatre patron who owned a dark green auto that "the door's locked and the motor's running." Curious thing, in this modern day, etc. . . .

Cable Car City

San Francisco, "the city of cable cars that are drawn over the hills into yesterday, the city of cold sun and warm fog, of memories that are kept alive today less painful and tomorrow less frightening—This is San Francisco—noisy, overcrowded, as full of perplexities as of panoramas . . . still exciting, still an intriguing hodgepodge." —Herb Caen

To bring to your attention "the thrill of discovering in San Francisco out of the way specialties created by people who still care about quality and originality in an age of growing mediocrity," Jack Shelton has published his phamplet, Discover.

In it he outlines unusual items which, he claims, "will add to your life and help you out of the hum-drum supermarket routine."

THE BOOKLET is a gold mine of suggestions of gifts for the person who has everything. For the tired bread-winner there is Mary Sherman's Relax-a-Bath, an oil that breaks into relaxing, soothing bubbles when added to bath water. It is created especially for men — It has no perfume and comes in a large brown bottle.

For men, Brynje undershirts are on sale in San Francisco. "These garments are made of heavy strings that are interlaced to form a open weave—like that of a fish net." This allows your body to breathe, helping you keep cool in warm weather and warm in cold weather." . . . Brynje T-shirts are standard equipment in the Norwegian Army.

How about beeswax candles that come in such striking colors as avocado and flame orange and may be designed to fit unusual candlesticks.

There's Fabulous Fudge that comes in several flavors. Shelton's favorites are chocolate walnut and rum.

Other things include beef sticks from the Hickory Farm Shop on Highway 101 near the Belvedere-Tiburon turn off. After dinner mints, oatmeal soap, and coveralls that are made from light weight material and may be worn on many occasions with comfort and pride.

MOST OF Shelton's book is devoted to unusual gourmet items that can be found in San Francisco and the Bay Area.

One of these is mustard sauce — created by a Mr. Loo, who points out that it is delightful with crab meat and shrimp — Mr. Shelton found it equally good on hamburgers and frankfurters.

Other gourmet items are King's Pantry Onion Ketchup, Lucca's Noodles, canned bacon, Ricci's Italian Wine Flavored Sausages and smoked salmon from Scotland.

For a taste that is different Shelton suggests Home Style Bread from the Cuneo Bakery Co. on Green Street near Grand Avenue.

For an old-fashioned breakfast make pancakes with whole grain meals.

Lindy Reuben's New York type cheese cake may be purchased in the Bay Area.

FEW CITIES in the United States can match San Francisco for its variety of frankfurters and sausages — They range from the hot dog variety to special German veal franks.

Carpet Advertising

There has been a steady increase in the "room" method of advertising carpeting. Because this method of advertising has spread to almost every major city in the country, inquiries regarding the purchase of wall-to-wall carpeting has become one of the major subjects of Better Business Bureau inquiries.

It is not possible to ascertain the total price of any wall-to-wall installation until accurate dimensions, type of padding and location of seams have been determined.

Two Bureau shoppers answered a fantastically low offer for the complete installation of three rooms with wall-to-wall carpet. Each shopper reported they ended up on the short end of an erroneous measurement. In one instance the price rose from $199 to $338. The advertisement had contained in fine print that the offer was imited to 30 square yards. All carpeting over this figure cost $9 a square yard.

THE LIFE of a carpet depends upon the fiber content, construction, amount of wear and the care it receives. Carpets fall into two general categories, those made of natural fibers such as wool, cotton and linen and the man-made fibers, nylon, rayon and the acrylics.

Carpeting comes in various grades and qualities designed to withstand varying traffic conditions whether intended for use in homes or commercial establishments.

The specifications which enter into carpeting grades are not apparent to the average buyer, and the consumer's best protection in securing the grade and quality of carpet desired for a particular purpose is in purchasing from an experienced and reputable carpet merchant.

THE PURCHASE of carpeting for the home represents a substantial investment for the average person from which years of service are expected. Depending upon wear and care, carpeting priced below $10 a square yard will last approximately five years. Carpeting priced from $10 to $12 a square yard will give about 10 years of useage and, with proper care, more expensive carpeting will last about 20 years.

If you are planning a purchase of carpeting:

(1) Investigate low price claims—you may end up paying more than you originally intended to otherwise.

(2) Shop several stores before making your final decision, especially if you do not know much about capeting. The wisest thing is to buy from a reliable dealer who handles carpeting made by an established carpet manufacturer.

(3) Investigate unknown companies who offer to sell commercial carpeting or carpeting left over from an apartment or office job.

THERE is NO U. S. Government Standard that defines Commercial Carpeting, including commercial type, commercial grade, commercial quality, etc. The carpet industry has NOT adopted any industrial standard for commercial use.

(4) Call the Better Business Bureau for a responsibility report before doing business with an unknown company.

Heritage Revived

The age-old question of what came first the chicken or the egg has recently been applied to the theater, or the new cultural complexes. What comes first the building or the play?

It's a question that Hal James, producer of "Man Of La Mancha", currently at the Curran Theater, has been seriously analysing. He's come up with a solution to many of the contemporary theaters problems, such as lack of properties, lack of playwrights, and lack of heritage of which the American theater should be proud.

"I've travelled from coast to coast, visited just about every cultural center there has ever been constructed and have found just about the same situation everywhere. There is no point of view. You ask the gentlemen in charge what we can do next for the theatregoer and they really don't care. Many of them scarcely even know what they're doing now."

His solution is to plan an American Heritage Theatre series that will tour the country. It would include such plays with a point of view as "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Shenandoah," Secret Service" by William Gillette and "Copperhead" by Augustus Thomas.

"I'M NOT CONCERNED SO MUCH with building a good repertory company as I am concerned with Theme. We now have approximately 200 years of plays in the American theatre from which to draw."

James continued with the concept of doing a cycle of plays on the American Revolution or the Civil War with some different views of Lincoln. He contends that the only thing theatergoers have seen for the last 20 or 30 years is Sherwood's "Abe Lincoln in Illinois." How about E. P. Conkle's "Prologue to Glory?"

There is no reason a series couldn't be planned on American themed plays by foreign writers. Or a series on American politics; or perhaps even high society comedies showing the upper classes down thru the ages. There are innumerable possibilities in every area of American life.

"From time to time I ask theatre people what lessons can be learned from the Lincoln Center Repertory Theatre debacle in New York and the answers are always vague. I've also asked various persons, including government officials, what is going to be put into the John F. Kennedy Performing Arts Center and where will this material come from, and again and the replies are vague."

SINCE THE THEATRE HAS LEARNED SO well to adapt straight plays into musicals, why not expand the idea? Why not use the American Heritage Theatre series as a means of editing and adapting old plays? While these plays, individually, might be outdated and lacking in contemporary parallels, used in a series to point out a particular theme, they would create a pride in forthcoming young audiences in the traditions and historical literature of the American playwright.

S.S.F. Firm Wins Plant Contract

The first concrete has been poured at Trimble Road and Breeding Avenue, San Jose, for a 270,000 square foot printing plant and office building for J. W. Clement Company, one of the nation's largest printing firms. The multi-million dollar project has been designed, and is being engineered and built by Associated Construction and Engineering Company, South San Francisco.

The printing and warehouse building will take up 258,000 square feet, and will be constructed mainly of tilt-up concrete wall panels. The 12,000 square foot office building separated from the printing plant by 60 feet as an additional fire safety precaution, will be built of aluminum wall, poured-in-place concrete columns, and a stucco canopy roof. The entire structure will be air-conditioned.

The facility will be situated on a 17 acre site, completely landscaped.

Drivers Injured In Bruno Crash

Two drivers were injured last week in a three-car accident on Bayshore Freeway in San Bruno.

William G. Hunton, 23-year-old laborer of 126 Claremont Avenue, South San Francisco, told highway patrolmen that he swerved his northbound station wagon to miss a car that cut him off. His car went out of control and hit the barrier fence in the divider strip.

Ramon A. Elias, 32, of San Pablo, swerved his small foreign car to miss the wrecked auto. The Elias car flipped onto its left side and skidded for several feet, then rolled onto its top and skidded another distance and finally came to rest on its wheels in the trees beside the highway.

A third car, driven by Armando V. Rivera, 24, of 1209 Brunswick Street, Daly City, crashed into Hunton's car.

Hunton and Elias were taken to Peninsula Hospital.

Youth Topples Off Coast Cliff, Lives

Ten-year-old Craig Christensen underwent surgery last Thursday to set a fractured right arm, suffered yesterday, when he toppled over a 150-foot cliff in Pacifica.

Young Christensen, the son of Mrs. Russel G. Gillespi of 365 Esplanade Avenue, Apt. 3a, Pacifica, and Wayne Adiar, 10, of 225 Nova Albine in Terra Linda, were playing beyond a span area northeast of the group of espalande Avenue apartments.

Adiar told Pafifica firemen that at about 4:45 p.m., Christensen going after a part to a model airplane went to close to the fairly sheer bluff and accidentally plunged 150-feet to the beach below.

Adiar rushed to the victim's apartment, from where Pacifica police and firemen were contacted, then raced back to the scene of the accident where he made his way down to his companion.

When firemen, led by Capt. Ken Donahus, reached the area, Adiar led them to Christensen, who was unable to explain to Donahue exactly what happened.

Donahue splinted the youngster's apparently fractured arm and other firemen pulled the youngster up in a basket.

Christensen was taken to Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City where the arm was set.

Reward Is Offered In Brisbane

The Sanitary Fill Company has offered a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest ot persons responsible for setting a fire last week at the Sierra Point dump site in Brisbane.

Last week's blaze was the fifth fire to occur at Brisbane dump sites within the past two years, and John Moscone, president of Sanitary Fill, said each of the fires has coincided with a "heating up" of the garbage issue in the city.

Leonard Stefinelli, president of the Golden Gate Disposal Co. and Sunset Scavenger Co., said several months ago the dump fires are "apparently set by anti-garbage elements, in an atempt to embarrass us."

A Brisbane ordinance prohibits open fires at the dump, and one of the arguments offered by opponents of the dumping operations has been the danger of smoke and fire hazard.

The council scheduled a new election on the garbage issue last week, following several heated meetings during which opposing factions on the issue clashed repeatedly.

Scavenger workers had just completed wetting down the dump area Tuesday, in compliance with a fire department recommendation, when the fire broke out. Three tank trucks and two bulldozers were returned to the scene to fight the blaze.

'Sweeper' Hurts Boy

Five-year old Robert Laughlin of 1356 Solano, Pacifica, was reported in "satisfactory" condition at Mary's Help Hospital after he and his bicycle were struck by a street sweeper last week.

The driver of the Pacifica sweeper, James Nash, said the youngster was riding close to the machine and he was unable to see the boy.

The boy was taken to Mary's Help with multiple abrasions after the 3:24 p.m. accident in front of 1390 Solano. A hospital spokesman said the injuries might require skin grafts.

Registration

Brisbane voters must register prior to August 24 in order to vote in the upcoming special election on the garbage issue, City Clerk Lanier Brady said today.

The election will be held October 17.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

What is malocclusion?

Malocclusion is irregularity of tooth position and poor fitting together of the teeth on closing the jaws. Such irregularity not only may interfere with chewing and with speech but also may lead to disease of the gums and other supporting structures of the teeth (periodontal disease). Malocclusion may also produce deformities of the face.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth. Dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Store in Skyline Plaza, has added the full line of McCall's Patterns in addition to the Simplicity Patterns this fine store carries.

Mrs. Diamond who has had 9 years managerial experience in retailing, having handled all phases of operations of the several stores owned by J & M Diamond Stores, Inc., says, "We are constantly adding to our fabric selection and we now have an excellent supply of various materials for fall fahions and back-to-school dresses."

Mrs. Diamond also points out with pride that Diamond's Dept. Store also features complete back-to-school clothing for boys and girls as well as everything in back-to-school stationery supplies and official gym uniforms for Westmoor High School students.

Oatmeal, Sherry Wine Cakes

Good morning, good cooks — and especially to you generous good cooks who took the time to send the recipe for oatmeal cake.

The accompanying letters keep me happily searching for new recipes to share with you.

Obviously many of you have been enjoying this oatmeal cake. It is interesting that the same recipe should come from kitchens all over this area — Mrs. Marcia McGuirk of Daly City, Mrs. C. Barnart in Pacifica, Mrs. T. F. Genis in San Bruno and Mrs. Barbara Schulz in Pacifica each contributed this recipe:

LAZY DAIZY OATMEAL CAKE

¼ cup boiling water
1 cup rolled oats, uncooked
½ cup butter, softened
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
1½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Pour the 1¼ cups boiling water over the one cup of rolled oats; cover and let stand 20 minutes.

Beat the ½ cup butter and gradually add the one cup each granulated and brown sugar, beating until light and fluffy. Blend in the one teaspoon vanilla and the two eggs. Add oats mixture; mix well.

Sift together the 1½ cups sifted flour, one teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ¾ teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg. Add to the creamed mixture, mixing well.

Pour batter into well-greased and floured 9-inch square pan. Bake in preheated 350-degree over for 50 to 55 minutes. Do not remove from pan.

Combine frosting ingredients and spread evenly over cake. Broil until frosting becomes bubbly.

KEEP AN EYE ON IT, FOR IT GETS BUBBLY MIGHTY FAST.

BROILED FROSTING

¼ cup butter, melted
½ cup firmly-packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons half and half
½ cup chopped nutmeats
¾ cup shredded or flaked coconut

Combine the ¼ cup butter with the ½ cup brown sugar and three tablespoons half and half. Add the ½ cup nut meats and cup coconut. Spread on cake and place under broiler.

This recipe for Scotch Spice cake came from Mrs. H. W. Stafford who lives in South San Francisco. The result is a cake very like the other oatmeal cakes with the added attraction of nuts and raisins in the batter.

SCOTCH SPICE CAKE

½ cup quick cooking rolled oats
⅓ cup boiling water
¾ cup canned milk, undiluted
1¼ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ cup raisins
½ cup nuts
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
¼ cup sugar
½ cup shortening
2 unbeaten eggs

Combine the ½ cup rolled oats with the one-third cup boiling water and ⅓ cup canned milk. Stir together and set aside while you mix the rest of the cake.

Sift the 1¼ cups flour with the ½ teaspoon soda, one teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon each, cinnamon and cloves. Stir in the ½ cup each raisins and chopped nuts.

Place the ½ cup shortening in mixing bowl and cream until light, gradually add the one cup brown sugar and ¼ cup granulated sugar. Cream well and blend in the two eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Stir in the oatmeal mixture.

Add the dry ingredients gradually to the creamed oatmeal mixture; mix thoroughly.

Turn into a 9-inch square pan, well greased and lightly floured on the bottom only; bake in 350-degree oven 50 to 60 minutes. Cool and frost.

FROSTING

1½ cups sifted confectioners sugar
2 tablespoons soft butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 to 2 tablespoons hot coffee

Add the 1½ cups sifted sugar to the 2 tablespoons soft butter, blending well. Add the ½ teaspoon vanilla and the hot coffee. Add one tablespoon coffee and if the frosting isn't the right consistency to spread, add the second tablespoon.

WELL there you are girls. Take your choice of either of these delicious cakes. I made them both and found them equally fine.

MRS. SCHULZ was kind enough to include a "bonus" recipe in her envelope. She writes that this wine cake is delicious and very easy to make — a fine recommendation.

SHERRY WINE CAKE

1 Pkg. Yellow or white cake mix
1 pkg. vanilla instant pudding
4 eggs
¾ cup sherry wine
¾ cup oil
1 teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon vanilla

Combine the cake mix with the one package instant pudding. Add the four eggs, ¾ cup each sherry wine and oil. Blend and then stir in the one teaspoon nutmeg and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Mix well and pour into a greased angel food pan and bake in 350-degree oven 50 to 60 minutes. Cool. Sprinkle with powdered sugar if you wish.

Combo Festival Set in Daly City

Under the sponsorship of the Daly City Recreation Department and the Westlake Music Store, a Combo Festival will be held in the War Memorial Building Friday, from 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

Featured will be combos composed of youngsters under the age of 16.

The number of combos entered are limited. Further information may be obtained from Pete Vallarino of the recreation department or Howard Loeffler or Frank Markovich at the Westlake Music Store.

Announcer for the evening will be Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage, former musician.

Family Life

Beginning 'Hoedown' Lessons

The Gingham Squares of South San Francisco is sponsoring a square dance beginner's class, starting Sept. 13 at Avalon School, South San Francisco.

Class instructors are Bob and Nita Page, national and international caller and instructors. Instruction will begin with square dance basic patterns, interpersed with the history of America's national dance, introduction to, and participation in, the many allied activities, which includes state and national conventions.

Perhaps the greatest feature in becoming a square dancer is that it is a couple-shared activity (dedicated to fun and recreation), self-participating, at nominal cost, and one which the whole family may enjoy—being worldwide, wherever a square dancer may travel there is always "a place to go,"—a club spokesman pointed out.

Rummage Sale Leaders Named

Mrs. Vern Box, chairman of the rummage sale Sept. 9, sponsored by the Riordan High School Mothers' Guild, has announced a list of some of her chairmen.

Mrs. Dale Barkham will have three departments under her guidance: Mrs. L. Foster, art; Mrs. Ted Martin, specialties; Mrs. John McSweeny, jewelry (broken pieces are acceptable, since many persons use the beads for making decorations).

Mrs. William Essig will head three departments: Shoes, Mrs. Edward Del Torre; women's wear, Mrs. L. Del Fante, and men's wear Mrs. Robert Gilson.

Bruno Club's Flower Show

Several events are on the calendar of the San Bruno Garden Club and include the units September 14 through 16 flower show.

The club's flower show will take place at the Dollar Savings and Loan Building in San Bruno. Members and their guests will attend a special preview the evening of September 15 and 16.

Daly City's 'Seniors' Take Tour

Daly City Senior Citizens visited Kings Table in Redwood City, First Methodist Church in Palo Alto, and Little House in Menlo Park last week.

They left Lincoln Park Clubhouse at 10:30 a.m. by bus, with 44 members.

The group toured Little House, viewing the dining room, library, ceramics, arts and crafts, sewing, plastics, stencil craft, and wood shop.

Little House has 1400 members, who participate in many programs and outings.

Daly City Senior Citizens meet each Wednesday at 11 a.m. at the Lincoln Park Clubhouse.

Fashion Show Is Planned

Members of Peninsula Jewish Women's organizations are making plans for the Israel Fashion Festival dinner which takes place September 26 at Rickey's Hyatt House in Palo Alto.

Planned in conjunction with this dinner was a series of teas this week and next the first of which took place Monday at Mrs. Philip Karp's Hillsborough home. Final tea will take place Monday at the home of Mrs. David Lynn, 1715 Santa Cruz Avenue, Menlo Park.

The Fashion festival will feature styles from internationally famed Israeli fashion designers and fashion houses. The purchase of an Israel bond is required for admission.

Mrs. Robert B. Levitas of Portola Valley is chairman of the fashion and dinner committee.

Fall Botique Bazaar Set

The Sisterhood of Temple Judea, 625 Brotherhood Way, near Daly City, will hold its "Fall Botique Sample Bazaar" Sept. 17.

New merchandise consisting of clothing and giftware will be sold.

Proceeds will help subsidize the Temple's religious school. Time of the sale will be 10 a.m. and will close at 4 p.m.

BAR MITZVAH

Barry Goldman, son of Gerald and Bette Goldman, 58 Pinehaven Drive, Daly City, will be Bar Mitzvah in services Friday, at the Temple on Brotherhood Way. The service will begin at 8:30 p.m.

BACK TO SCHOOL they go from Westlake Shopping Center. With his Highness, the "Emperor", Gene Nelson (Radio K Y A) as master-of-ceremonies, cute little Cynthia Scanlon models a wool and nylon plaid with hip stitched box pleats and matching orlon slipon from Irving Scott's Lass and Laddie Shop during last Saturday's Annual Back-To-School Fashion Show at Westlake Center. Cynthia's appearance was but one of many models during the entertaining afternoon in which all Westlake Center stores participated. A large audience of more than 500 watched the fashion parade.

Rummage Sale Pickup Set

A second mass rummage pickup is planned Sept. 9 by the Sisterhood of Temple Judea.

These items will be used for the rummage sale to be held at the Hall of Flowers Sept. 27.

Calls for the pickup should be made to Mrs. Martin Segol (WY 2-3691) or Mrs. Lee Bart, (WY 2-4362).

Proceeds will go to the Temple's religious school.

Trying Growing Perennials From Seed 'New Thrill'

By IVA NEWMAN

For years English gardens have been noted for their beautiful perennial borders and returning tourists are loud in their praise of these colorful plantings and of the unusual plants they have found in them.

The secret of these English plantings is growing your own perennials from seed. This is not a difficult job nor does it take a special layout. About a dollar's worth of seed plus a few clay pots and the average home owner can make any border the beauty sopt of the neighborhood. Just tuck some of these homegrown plants in among existing shrubs, add a little fertilizer and water and the plants will do the rest.

Growing perennials from seed is a little more of a challenge than growing annuals from seed, but it is not at all difficult. Seeds take longer to germinate up to several weeks in some cases) but other than that, the routine is much the same, and if you remember to keep the seed flat moist during germination you should have no trouble raising some of the perennials tourists rave about.

NOW IS THE TIME

The best time to sow perennial seed is during the weeks after it's been freshly harvested, and this means the next few weeks. Fresh seeds of delphinium, columbine, primroses, Iceland Poppies and many others are available now from your favorite nurseryman. These freshly harvested seeds will germinate faster and more completely than seed from last year's crop of flowers. Freshness of the seed is more important with perennials than it is with annuals.

Perennial seed can be sown directly into the garden but most plants get off to a better start if the seed is sown in a container and transplanted into the garden later.

We use half flats, saw a regular nursery flat in half and put in a new end) and shallow clay pots for all our seed sowing. These can be put ino our washtray and soaked in a solution of soap suds and household bleach and scrubbed right in the same tray. Be sure to rince well and let sit in the sun for a couple of days for the bleach to evaporate. The wooden flats are lined with newspaper to prevent soil washing through between the boards. Slash the paper in two or three places to permit water to drain through.

We use equal parts topsoil, and sand and finely ground bark for a seeding mixture. To eliminate weeds and to be sure there are no disease organisms in the soil to endanger the life of the baby seedlings we place the filled flats and seed pots in the oven for a couple of hours with the temperature set at 200 degrees. Open the windows if you are sensiitve to odors as the heating soil has an unpleasant smell for many people. However, the new household disinfectants freshen the air in seconds and you know you have given your seed th best possible start. You can also fumigate the soil with one of the new chemicals by following directions on the container or you can buy a commercially prepared seeding soil that has already been sterilized. Keep in mind that the freshly sterilized soil must be given time to cool completely before the seeds are sown.

SCREEN SOIL

Screen the soil through a quarter inch mesh (you can also rub the mixture between your palms to break up any lumps) and fill the flat or pot to the brim with the loose soil. With a flat board, (we use a piece of two by four, or the flat bottom of a bottle) firm the soil until it is three-fourths inch from the top of the flat or rim of the pot. Be particularly careful to firm the soil down well around the edges and in the corners. The next step is planting.

We plant two or more varieties in each half flat and frequently two varieties in a seed pot. If the seed is very tiny we divide a pot in half by sinking a thin board across the middle of a pot so the little seeds can be broadcast without getting mixed. Larger seed is planted in little furrows with a label at the head of each furrow.

THE FABRIC REVOLUTION

While many furniture and drapery fabrics seem to change little in texture, design and color through the years and will continue to change little, there are now at the same time some revolutionary happenings taking place in fabrics.

Stripes, both vertical and horizontal, are making a strong comeback in upholstery, wallpaper and drapery fabrics. Not only hardedge but irregular stripes are being widely used. Floral patterns with striped backgrounds are also being shown.

Floral patterns of enormous size are being featured in both contemporary and traditional furniture.

Soft, wavy, kinetic patterns which seem to move in rythmic forms dominate some prints.

Men's wear fabrics such as plaids, tweeds, diagonals and herringbones have found their way and gained wide acceptance in sophisticated furniture and drapes.

Black and white combinations are gaining in importance and some factories are showing white and brown together.

It's an exciting time in the home furnishings field with the best of the standard designs available plus many new ones.

A visit to our showrooms will enable you to judge for yourself which of the designs and styles in fabrics and furniture you like best.

Lot of Accidents In the Kitchen

Maybe this is where you came in, but it won't hurt to go over it again, just in case you weren't listening. Or in case you happen to be nursing the idea that it can't happen to you. It can. It has happened to many. But it doesn't have to happen unless you are careless.

What I am talking about is accidental injury occurring in the kitchen. It takes all the joy out of a good meal to have the cook come to the table with a burned hand or having to stop everything to attend to a knife cut that might just as well have been avoided.

The kitchen is one of the more hazardous rooms in the house, in spite of what Mark Twain said about the bedroom, where so many people die. Yet the kitchen can be as safe as anyplace, with a little care and forethought, because the hazards aret well-known and almost entirely preventable.

Practically every kitchen has potholders knitted or crocheted by Aunt Hannah or Grandma or purchased at the Ladies' Aid Bazaar, but what use are they in a drawer? Everybody knows that worn electric cords are dangerous, and that you don't properly pull a plug by yanking the wire, but we still hear of electric flash fires in kitchens.

Hot grease will catch fire, but how often has the vent above your stove, which gets clogged with greasy dust, been cleaned lately? Of course, you keep a clean kitchen, but it's easy to overlook such hidden spots. And when grease starts to burn, remember that throwing water on it only spreads the fire. There should be a fire extinguisher in every kitchen. Where's yours?

Electric appliances create a number of hazards, besides being a great help when properly used and maintained. When the toast won't rise and starts burning in the toaster, disconnect the appliance before you go fishing with a fork. Keep your hands off the water faucet when you have a connected electric appliance in your hand. While using a fan, be sure you don't catch towels or loose sleeves in the whirling blades. Never lay your electric carving tools down while they are in action. Turn your electric iron off AND disconnect it before leaving it, just to be doubly sure.

You have read and heard this a million times, but tragedies still occur because people will keep insecticides and other poisons in the spice cupboards. If you get bleach into your electric iron instead of distilled water, you can buy another iron, but if your family is poisoned by "spicing" the food from the wrong container, the damage may be serious.

Kitchens aren't unsafe — unless the people in them make them so.

Nectarines And Berries

Fresh nectarines and frozen raspberries go together!

Creamed Potatoes
Broiled Tomatoes
Salad Bowl
Raspberry Nectarines
Ladyfingers

RASPBERRY NECTARINES

1 package (10-ounces) frozen sweet-red raspberries, thawed
6 medium nectarines (about 1¼ pounds
2 tablespoons kirsch (clear cherry brandy), if desired

Into an electric blender turn the raspberries and whir to puree; force through a fine strainer to remove seeds. (Cover and chill if made ahead.) Just before serving, slice the nectarines and mix with the raspberry puree; if used, add the kirsch. Makes six servings. (If nectarines are added to the raspberry puree some hours ahead of serving they may discolor and thin the puree.) Sugar to taste may be added to this compote.

URANIUM

Until the atomic era, uranium was merely a byproduct of radium and vanadium mines, useful for coloring glass and pottery, says the National Geographic.

How to Freeze Your Soup Stock

When freezing soup stock, pour it into loaf pans to freeze. After the stock is frozen solid, remove from the pans and wrap in freezer paper. These blocks store neatly and take up less freezer space.

Use a Button

As soon as you are through taking cellophane tape off the roll, place a button under the loose end and press lightly down over it. This makes it easy to find the end the next time you want to use the tape.

Beans, Nectarines In Summer Platter

"Beans and Nectarines Vinaigrette" is a glamorous summertime version of the popular marinated green bean and onion salad.

To make this colorful variation, you marinate sliced fresh nectarines with the canned green beans and sliced red onion; then, at serving time, arrange the beans and nectarines in rings on a platter with the onion in the center. It's that easy! And the fresh nectarines with their brilliant red and gold skins make it so pretty

You'll find plenty of nectarines from California in local markets now. This luscious fruit has a flavor all its own. Nectarine season usually ends in September, so enjoy this elegant, easy-to-eat fruit while you can.

Beans and Nectarines Vinaigrette

2 fresh nectarines
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup salad oil
1 tablespoon sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic, split
1 can (1 lb.) whole Blue Lake green beans, drained
1 medium red onion, sliced

Slice nectarines. Combine lemon juice, oil, sugar, salt and garlic in pan. Bring to boil then cool. Discard garlic. Place nectarines, beans and onion, without mixing, in a pan or bowl. Pour marinade over. Cover and chill at least 3 hours, spooning marinade over several times during chilling. To serve, lift beans from liquid with slotted spoon and arrange in ring on platter. Arrange nectarines in ring inside bean ring and finish with a heap of onion in center. Garnish with twisted lemon slices or inner leaves of romaine lettuce as you wish Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Cover Party Sandwiches

You can make party sandwiches ahead of time—and they will be as good as if they had just been made—if you place them on a plate or tray and cover with waxed paper. Be careful to tuck the paper securely around the edges to keep all air out. Cover with a damp cloth. Store in the refrigerator until serving time.

Butter Will End Soggy Sandwich

Lunch box sandwiches will not become soggy if each slice of bread is covered with a thin film of butter before applying the filling. Be sure that the butter is spread evenly to all edges of the slice of bread.

Reinforce Box

When children receive a new game, use cellophane tape to reinforce the corner seams of the box before giving it to them. This prevents the box from coming apart at the seams from handling. Also slip a stout rubber band around the box to help prevent loose cards or parts from being scattered or lost.

Give a Discotea – A Go-Go Party With Lots of Music

What's a "discotea"? Well, in teen lingo, it's a smash of a bash. In other words, it's a go-go party with lots of music (each guest brings his favorite disc) and plenty to eat and drink.

Actually, the refreshments need not be elaborate or fancy.

Most young people vote for simple and familiar fare: hot dogs, hamburgers, pizzas — or a mammoth hero sandwich built into the longest loaf of French or Italian bread you can find.

Slice it in half and spread with butter, margarine or mayonnaise. Start with a layer of escarole; top this with Swiss cheese, then salami, pickle slices, ham or bologna, American cheese, tomatoes and, finally, onion rings. To serve, cut it in hearty man-sized chunks.

For the beverage to go with this giant of a sandwich, provide a big pitcher of iced tea. All ages like its clean, fresh taste. Teen-agers approve it especially because it won't add unwanted pounds or cause complexion problems. Serve it straight — or with variations.

Iced Tea

This way you get a pitcherful — about 10 servings.

1. Bring 1 quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan.

2. Remove from the heat and immediately add 1-3 cup loose tea or 15 teabags.

3. Stir, cover and brew 5 minutes.

4. Stir again and strain into a pitcher holding another quart of cold water.

5. When ready to serve, pour into ice-filled glasses. Serve plain or with lemon wedges and sugar to taste. Or you can garnish glasses with sprigs of mint, lime wedges or fruit kabobs made by alternating strawberries and pineapple chunks on plastic stirrers.

Note: If you use instant tea, mix 4 tablespoons tea powder with 2 quarts cold water.

Tea Twirler

This makes 12 to 14 servings.
2 quarts iced tea
2 cups pineapple juice
1 tablespoon lime juice
sugar to taste
pineapple sticks

Make iced tea. Add pineapple juice, lime juice and sugar. Pour into ice-filled glasses. Add a pineapple stick to each glass.

Tea Teaser

You'll have 12 to 14 servings.
2 quarts iced tea
2 cups apricot nectar
3 tablespoons lemon juice

Make iced tea. Add Apricot nectar and lemon juice. Serve with lemon slices and sprigs o mint.

Tea Tonique

Makes 12 to 14 servings.
2 quarts iced tea
2 cups orange juice
½ cup honey
8-10 sprigs of mint, bruised
1 orange, thinly sliced

Make iced tea. Add orange juice, honey, mint leaves. Mix well. Garnish with orange slices.

Tea Smash

Makes 12 to 14 servings.
2 quarts iced tea
1 quart lemon ice or sherbet

Make iced tea. Cool to room temperature. Put cooled tea and lemon ice in mixing bowl. Beat with rotary beater until frothy. Pour into pitcher or shaker and serve immediately.

Watermelon Pickle A Good Project

One of the most satisfactory projects ever to go on in our kitchen is the making of watermelon pickle. Each summer we glow when we turn out a batch, count up the cost and find it's piggy-bank money compared to what these pickles cost when bought.

But one word of caution. The recipe recommends thoroughly rinsing the watermelon rind after soaking in the lime water. Do so! Use a colander and a big water-filled bowl and rinse many times. Make sure that all free lime settles and is discarded with the rinsing water.

TWO-DAY WATERMELON PICKLE

2 pounds prepared watermelon rind (about 1¾ quarts)
4 teaspoons slaked lime (labeled calcium hydroxide in small bottles at drugstores)
1½ tablespoons salt
2 teaspoons ground ginger
5½ cups distilled white vinegar
5 cups sugar
5 sticks cinnamon (each about 3 inches long), broken into shorter pieces
1½ tablespoons whole allspice
½ tablespoon whole cloves
¼ whole nutmeg (if too hard to cut, pound to crack)
1 lemon (unpeeled, ends removed and sliced to ¼ inch thick)
Green food coloring

To prepare watermelon rind, trim off and discard green part of rind. Cut rind into 1-inch square pieces; measure and set aside.

Into a non-metallic bowl holding 1 quarter cool water, stir 2 teaspoons of the slaked lime; add rind; stir in another quart of cool water. Let stand 1 hour; stir in remaining 2 teaspoons lime and let stand from 1 to 1½ hours. Thoroughly rinse and drain rind to remove all free lime.

Into a large pot turn the rind, salt, ground ginger, 1 cup of the vinegar and enough water to cover. Boil gently until rind is tender—anywhere from 20 minutes to 1 hour, depending on thickness, texture and variety of watermelon. Without draining, turn into a non-metallic bowl; cool; refrigerate overnight.

While rind is cooking, prepare spice solution. Into a small saucepan put the cinnamon, allspice, cloves and cracked nutmeg, add ½ cup of the vinegar and ½ cup water. Cover and heat to boiling; let barely simmer for 10 to 15 minutes. Remove from heat and allow to stand, covered, for 1 hour; strain through cheesecloth-lined strainer; cover and refrigerate.

When ready to finish pickle, into a large pot turn the remaining 4 cups vinegar and the sugar; heat, stirring until sugar dissolves. Drain the refrigerated rind and add with enough water to cover. Boil gently until rind begins to look clear; add the spice solution and lemon; continue boiling gently until rind looks translucent. Remove from heat. Stir in enough green food coloring to make rind and syrup a pretty green.

Should syrup become too thick before pickle is ready for putting into jars, thin with equal parts of vinegar and water.

Prepare pint or half-pint fruit jars according to manufacturer's directions. Using a slotted spoon, pack jars with the boiling hot watermelon rind, but not to the very top. At once pour in boiling hot pickle syrup to within ¼-inch from top, making sure syrup covers rind. Wipe off any spills on top or threads of jars. Put dome lids on jars; screw bands tight.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef tip sirloin butt steak.

Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?

A. It comes from the hindquarter of beef, specifically the section known as the tip or knuckle. This is right next to the sirloin section, as well as below the round or leg. The steaks are boneless and the fat follows a pattern similar to that of round steak in that most of it is in the edging.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By broiling if the meat is of high quality. This means using a dry heat method as is used for steaks from the short loin or sirloin sections. This steak is also marinated and broiled. It is excellent to use for cutting into cubes to be used for kabobs, to be broiled out-of-doors on the grill. If it's cut thin, pan-broiling is the method to use. If there's any doubt about the quality, use the moist heat method (braising) for cooking.

WIDGET WORLD — Two pre-school "widgets" enjoy one of the many programs being offered by the YWCA. The organization plans to expand its "Widget World" activities this fall.

YWCA Program For Children

The San Mateo County YWCA will expand its creative activities program for pre-school children this fall.

Titled a "Widget's World", the program co-ordinator will be Mrs. Richard Morse.

The new program will be held at the Lutheran Church of the Resurrection, 850 Glenview Drive, in San Bruno. Classes will be offered on Mondays and Fridays, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. starting the week of September 18th.

The San Mateo YWCA plans to offer its Widget World nursery program in additional peninsula communities when it is requested and where suitable facilities are located.

The program has enjoyed many years of success in Daly City where the Y will continue to offer classes five days a week in three locations.

"The San Bruno Branch of the American Association of University Women has been instrumental in helping us get this program under way," director Justine Williams said.

Co-ordinator Mrs. Morse is the creator of the Squnch stories and former director of Squnch House for children at Squaw Valley.

She has had wide and varied experience in the pre-school field.

The "Y" program has captured her imagination, for skilled nursery instructors will assist her in providing the youngsters a wide variety of experiences. Children may paint, paste, play with clay, toys and enjoy outdoor fun.

Group activities provide for self expression through rhythms, dance, song and story.

This program will delight your child and contribute much to his personal and social development.

Schooled in modern dance and psychology at Annadale-on-Hudson, New York, Mrs. Morse's professional career has included directing a community nursery school, creative drama work, day camps and dance therapy for handicapped children, dance classes for blind teenagers as well as operating Squnch House programs in Colorado, Utah and California.

The Widget World nursery program will start a 12 week session on September 18, but early registration is advised.

Class size is limited. Complete information is available at the YWCA office, 375 S. Mayfair, Daly City.

D.C. Summer Recreation Programs Close Today

Mayor Bernard J. Lycett stated in the Daly City Recreation Summer booklet, "The youth of our community continually travel towards the gateway of adult life.

"They travel towards that first goal on the pathway of life we pave with Education, Religion and Recreation. Those who follow this path without straying, reach and pass this milestone in their lives with a minimum of problems. Our summer recreation program provides many stepping stones for this path that also go beyond the gateway to adult life. It is my hope that you and your children travel the path together towards the ultimate goal of a more enjoyable life."

And after ten weeks of fun, fog and educational opportunities, it is obvious that the Department of Recreation, under the leadership of Director Charles E. Vincent, has succeeded in providing the stepping stones for the adults and children of Daly City.

Wednesday, with the exception of the movie program, will mark the summer end of all specialist programs. Arts and crafts, story hour, cartoons, children's drama, tennis, bike club, beach camp, hiking club, fishing club, children's chess, girl's gymnastics, Young Ladies society, Theatrical dance, girl's track club, boy's wrestling and the boy's sports clinics, will not meet during the last two days, Thursday and Friday, of the 1967 summer program.

Thursday, the Annual Daly City International Junior Olympics, for youngsters entering the second to ninth grade in September, will be held at Westmoor High School starting at 12:00 noon.

The opening ceremony will contain a parade consisting of 24 playgrounds representing a wide variety of countries throughout the world, from Australia represented by M. Pauline brown to Westlake Park under their assumed identity of Zanzibar. Youngsters cannot participate without their parents' approval, therefore, more information and permission slips are available from the Recreation Leader at each playground.

PANORAMA SCHOOL

For the second straight week Mike Viscarra is the ping-pong champion at Panorama. Mike went undefeated in 12 games to head other outstanding opponents such as John Gradwohl, Frank Tracey, Joey Cattallano and Steve Balestrieri. In the mixed doubles John Gradwohl and Karen Ratto took top honors.

MIDWAY SCHOOL

Junior Olympic Fever hits Midway School-! On Thursday, August 10th, Midway School held its Olympic Trials. Some of the outstanding runners of the day were: Rickie Johnson, Skeeter Johnson, Fred macchi, Barry Downall, Ike Allmond, Bill Heinbach, Susie Macchi, Janet Broda and "Big Mama" Colario. Midway will be representing the country of Kenya in this year's Olympics. Rickie Johnson has become the "Bob Hayes" of Midway School. Rickie has shown outstanding speed in all of his performances. James Ramsey and Jackie Acierto have been chosen "Boy and Girl of the Week."

Bruno Pool Is County's Summer 'Swimming Hole'

By DON GRIERSON

San Bruno's city swimming pool, the only municipally operated pool in the North Peninsula area, is one of the most successful recreational projects ever undertaken in San Mateo County.

Public use of the pool has increased yearly since its construction in 1959, at an initial cost of $67,000, and the city is now considering a plan to operate the swimming program on a year-around basis.

Superintendent of Recreation of Michael Kiely said the summer program this year has been especially successful "because of the Mediterranean type weather," and if San Bruno's usual weather pattern prevails, the ideal swimming conditions will continue through October.

Also, San Bruno now has two competitive swimming teams, with approximately 125 members, and these swimmers need the facilities for winter practice, the superintendent said.

The majority of the pool's patrons during the summer months are pre-school age children enrolled in the morning swim classes, according to Kiely.

"We have found the essential public demand is for the instruction of children. There are now approximately 400 children enrolled in the classes," he said, "and it is the broadest program of its type in the entire area."

Teaching the "toddlers" to swim are high school students who have completed the water safety course offered by the city in conjunction with the American Red Cross.

"In 1961, when I came to the department, we had only one qualified water safety instructor," the superintendent said.

"We now have nine teachers, and this enables us to offer high level instruction to classes with as many as 50 pupils participating at the same time."

The swimming lessons are offered each morning, Monday through Saturday, and are free to San Bruno children who are accompanied by their parents.

The pool is open for "recreational swimming" 1 p.m.-3 p.m. and 3:15 p.m.-5:15 p.m. each day, and there is a "family swim" period each night from 7:30 to 9:30.

An average of about 200 swimmers utilize the pool, which has a capacity of 350, during the 1 p.m.-3 p.m. period, 100 during the 3:15-5:15 period and 50 during the family swim period.

Kiely said 20,000 persons used the pool during the month of July.

"We get our heaviest volume, of course, on the hottest days, and this sometimes presents a problem. The swimmers who use the pool every day are disappointed when the heavy crowds show up on these occasions," he said.

Two other swimming pools are operated in the city, at Crestmoor High School and Capuchino High, but these facilities close each summer around August 1.

The city pool is operated "from Memorial Day through Labor Day," and "picks up some of the swimmers who normally use the high school pools during the latter part of the summer."

About 12 employes operate the pool each summer on a budget of $14,000, Kiely said.

In addition to the water safety instructors and lifeguards, three part-time pool managers assist in the summer operation.

San Bruno residents pay an entrance fee of 25 cents for use of the pool, with the exception of children enrolled in the free swimming classes.

Non-residents are not admitted, except as guests of resident users.

"It's a hard thing to turn kids from neighboring cities away from the pool on hot days, but we have no other alternative," Kiely said.

Recreation commissioners voted last month to recommend a year-around pool operation to the city council.

The pool could be operated during the winter months on revenue derived from the 25 cent admission charge, according to the superintendent, and there would be no additional cost to the taxpayers.

'We have been attempting to organize a junior high school swimming program during the winter," he said, "and the city pool could also be used for that purpose."

The pool is already equipped with a heating system, Kielty said.

Miller Joins Bruno Board

Leon Miller was appointed to the San Bruno Planning Commissioner at Monday's council meeting, and W. Clark Gwen was named to fill a vacancy on the city's personnel board.

Miller will fill the commission seat vacated by the resignation of Joseph Greenberg, and Gwen will complete the unexpired term of Ted Franquoer, who moved away recently.

Both the new appointments are effective immediately, councilmen said. The planning commission term will expire in May, 1968, and the personnel board term January, 1970.

Olaf Flodin, Mrs. Vogel Capture Tennis Tourney

Olaf Flodin and Mrs. Jane Vogel shared the limelight in Pacifica's first annual City Tennis Championship Tournament last week.

Flodin won the men's "34 and under" singles title, and teamed with John Bently to win the 34 and under doubles championship.

Mrs. Vogel took the ladies "35 and over" trophy, and teamed with Jerry Wright to capture the open mixed doubles championship.

Other winners were Shirley Brown, ladies' 34 and under singles; Clara Sabuco and Shirley Brown, ladies' open doubles; Val Sabuco, men's 18 and under singles; Dennis Douglas, boys' 16 and under singles; Dennis Douglas and Dennis Crowder, boys' 16 and under, and Larry Folking, boys' 14 and under.

There were 17 entrants in the tournament, played on the Oceana High School courts. A total of 22 matches were scheduled, with only two defaults.

Mamas And Poppers Take Summer Basketball Title

The Mamas and the Poppers won the Daly City Recreation Department's Summer High School Basketball League championship last week, defeating the Blood Bombers 33-31 to complete the season with a perfect 7-0 record.

Joe Skaar and Louie Matteucci were top scorers for the champions, and Willie Redmond scored 24 points for the Bombers.

In other league action, the Muskrats won their first game of the season, defeating the Green Slime, 44-32, with Ray Kaus scoring 19 points.

More Notes on Willie

If you read that column on Willie Ritchie and are still interested, following are some notes which didn't make the column or a subsequent series on the life of Ritchie which we did for our Big Sister publication, the San Mateo Times (note our conscious effort to avoid the term, Big Brother) last week:

Willie had said that boxing is coming back, that he feels promoters learned their lesson with excess television exposure.

But, he added, "It's going to be a long, uphill climb, this time, especially in this area (Bay Area), where there's such competition for the sports-event dollar.

"Boxing still needs many reforms. A national commissioner, for instance, a respected and well known person, such as Jack Dempsey or Rocky Marciano, a person who knows the game inside out from first hand knowledge."

Going back to the competition for the dollar, Willie includes, of all things, professional wrestling.

"Don't underestimate its pull," says Willie, who dealt intimately with it when he was Chief Inspector of the California Athletic Commission and when it was still considered a legitimate professional sport rather than a "exhibition."

"One afternoon I went out to the Cow Palace to check on a few things prior to that night's matches. It was 5:15 when I got there, and there was an elderly couple waiting outside the admission gate.

"I told them that the matches didn't begin until 8:30 that night, and they informed me politely that they knew that, but that they wanted to be sure of getting good seats.

"I got them let in, and sure enough, they found their good seats and waited there until the matches started."

What's the attraction, and why do so many women go nuts over the "sport."?

"I think they get a sexual boot out of it," said Willie during the interview. And we'll leave the rest of the discussion to the reader's imagination.

One of Willie's favorite stories concerns the night he fought a young substitute from Philadelphia named Yankee Schwartz. It was a story Schwartz later told on himself and eventually published.

Willie was only months away from the lightweight title, reaching his peak, and out to be as impressive against Schwartz as he could.

In the first round he knocked Schwartz down three times, and each time the crowd — and Ritchie — thought it would be the last.

But as Schwartz later explained, he had a large personal following in Philadelphia, "And I couldn't let the boys down." So after every knockdown, he'd drag himself up, saying to himself, "I gotta get up, I can't let down the boys in Philly."

In the second round, Willie really started leveling on Yankee, and twice more he went down, only to pull himself up because of the inspiration from the boys in Philadelphia.

Finally, he went down for the third time and he started to say to himself, "I gotta get up for the boys in Philadelphia," and then he spotted Ritchie glowering from a neutral corner, and he said to himself, "To hell with the boys in Philadelphia, I'll be damned if I'll get up again."

Other odds and ends from Ritchie: Was there really that many "thrown" fights?

"Not as many as the movies would have you believe," says Willie, "but two of the most notorious ones which almost ruined boxing way back were the Joe Gans-Terry McGovern fight in 1900 when Gans dove in the second round—and that one did ban boxing in Illinois for a number of years; and the Jim Corbett-Kid McCoy fight in 1898, when McCoy laid down for Corbett in the fifth so Jim could get a crack at winning his title back from Jim Jeffries. That one was one of the major factors in killing boxing in New York for years."

Jeffries, incidentally, once told Ritchie that the hardest he was ever hit was by Joe Choynski in San Francisco. Joe, a boyhood buddy of Corbett's, whom Corbett later made a habit of beating, held Jeffries to a draw, one of only two men to ever accomplish the feat on the man who retired undefeated and then came back only to lose to Jack Johnson.

Ritchie, if you like finances, was one of the biggest money-winning lightweights of all time. His largest purse was $26,000, when he lost his title to Freddy Welsh in London. That was 1914, when you could buy steaks for 25c and there were no income taxes.

One last note from Willie, who claims that if it weren't for boxing, Lefty O'Doul might have never been a great baseball player.

Al Sandel, one of Willie's corner men, was managing a kid's baseball team on which O'Doul played in Butchertown. When Lefty's father heard about it, he ordered Lefty to quit, telling him he could be spending his time more profitably.

Sandel, sensing that O'Doul was a boy who would never waste his time playing ball, talked Lefty's father into letting him continue to play.

Westlake Bowl

By James Grealish

AS THE SAFEWAY Summer Sllepers League came to an end, the "Guess Who" team took the championship with Roy Becker and Ben Herrera leading the way. Champion rooter honors went to John Cancilla of the 2400 Club.

Two new high rollers took the spotlight in tht 510 Scratch Trio League. Dave Pansini shot games of 211-186-215 and 222 for a series of 834. Second honors went to Joe Vandergord with 805 on games of 266-169-175 and 195.

Westlake Bowlers will attend the Ice Follies as a group on Friday evening September 1. Reduced price tickets for the Westlake section are available at the concourse desk at the Bowl.

In the Country Club Trio League, Larry Fragulia rolled a 224 game and a 685 four game series to lead the league for the week.

A 187 game and 702 series by Bertha Garcia topped the Ladies Invitational Trio League for the Week.

IT WAS "Give my regards to Broadway" time last Thursday for Phil Buchanan and Tony Baladad as the two Westlake Junior bowlers left for New York to compete in the All-American Youth Games.

Bea Mohr and Ken Lewis led the B'nai B'rith Mixed Summer League for the week, Bea with 192-469 and Ken with a 216 game and 599 series.

Leading lady in the Monday evening Starliters League was Dot Alves with a high game of 184 and a four game series of 644.

Something new and different will be added to the Bowl September 1 when the coffee shop will become Boitano's Restaurant. A new and interesting menu will be presented to the Bowl customers.

Den Arietta's 211 game and 575 series led the Golden Gate Handicap League for the eek.

NOW IS THE TIME for all bowlers to select a day and time for their winter bowling please. Rick and Frank have all the information.

Bowlers of the week in the 99'ers Mixed Fives League were Carol Stayman who rolled a 214 game and 550 series and Tom Millane who shot 219 and 557.

League Meetings for the 1967-68 season start next Monday evening with the Ladies Starliters Handicap League meeting scheduled for 7:00 p.m. followed by the Ladies 850 Scratch League at 8:00 p.m. Other league meetings will be held starting September 5 with League competition starting the following week.

Sponsor Jack Friedman provided the "Bubbly" for his team last Thursday night as the Sanford Cleaners team won the championship of the Lake Merced Handicap League. Mike Del Campo led the league on the final night with a 221 game and 573 series.

SCORES WERE HIGH IN the Northgate Mixed Fives League as Billie Burke led the ladies with 190 game and 515 series. Three men topped the six hundred mark led by Floyd Howell with a 633 series on games of 168-211-254. Second honors went to George Potacki with 223-187-212 for 622, while Gene Kaiser had 614 on games of 197-214 and 203. Marso's Marauders won the League championship as the summer league came to an end.

Two ties developed for leadership in the Twilight Mixed Fives League with Helen Lugo and Rowena Delucchi both shooting a 508 series and Mike Hanley and Mac McDonald leading the men with 563. Rowena's high game was 188, Helen's 180, Mike's 213 and Mac's 212. The Runny Five team took the league championship as the league ended.

Plans are moving ahead for the Ninth Annual Daly City Police Athletic League Benefit Tournament scheduled to start October 14 and run until November 26. There will be a special bonus prize this year plus increased value in total prizes. A gigantic opening squad is scheduled for Saturday evening October 14. General Chairman Bill Greer is again in charge.

Green Beans a Giant in Kitchen When Served With Imagination

Green beans belong to our canned family of good things from the garden. Too often they're served with a lack of ingenuity — and eaten with even less enthusiasm.

QUEEN BEAN SALAD

2 16-oz. cans Sliced Green Beans, drained
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped pimiento
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup wine vinegar
1 clove garlic
1-3 cup salad or olive oil
⅛ teaspoon cracked black pepper
Leaf Lettuce

For salad, combine canned beans, celery and pimiento. Spread evenly in bottom of a shallow casserole or pan. For dressing, combine salt, vinegar and garlic in jar with tight-fitting cover; let stand 5 minutes. Add oil and pepper. Cover and shake vigorously. Remove garlic; pour dressing over vegetables, mixing lightly to coat. Refrigerate several hours or overnight, stirring occasionally. To serve, spoon into lettuce-lined salad bowl. (To obtain more pronounced flavor, slash garlic clove with paring knife several times.) Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

GREEN BEANS SINGAPORE

1 2½-oz. jar sliced mushrooms, drained
¾ cup diagonally-sliced celery
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
1 16-oz. can Green Beans, drained
½ cup drained bean liquid
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1½ teaspoons soy sauce

Saute mushrooms and celery in melted butter or margarine until celery is tender, but still crisp. Combine ½-cup bean liquid with cornstarch and soy sauce. Stir into mushroom-celery mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently until sauce is slightly thickened. Add canned beans; heat several additional minutes. Yield: 3 to 4 servings.

SOUTHERN STYLE BEANS

¼ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped celery
2 tablespoons bacon drippings
1 16-oz. can Green Beans
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons sugar
2 teaspoons vinegar
1 tablespoon diced pimiento

Saute onion and celery in hot bacon drippings until lightly browned. Add undrained canned beans, salt, sugar, vinegar and pimiento. Heat thoroughly over low heat. To serve, spoon into vegetable dishes. Yield: 3 to 4 servings.

SEASIDE CASSEROLE

1 10½-oz. can cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
¼ cup milk
2 16-oz. cans French Style Green Beans, drained
1 2½-oz. jar sliced mushrooms, drained
1½ cups corasely-crushed potato chips
1 7-oz. can tuna, drained and flaked

Blend soup with milk in medium-sized mixing bowl. Add canned beans, mushrooms, ½ of crushed potato chips and tuna. Place in well-greased 1½-quart casserole. Sprinkle with remaining potato chips. Bake in preheated moderate ovem (350-degree) about 25 minutes. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

RUSSIAN BEAN SALAD

2 16-oz. cans Green Beans, drained
2 tablespoons diced pimiento
1 teaspoon finely-minced onion
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons vinegar
½ tablespoons vinegar
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
Leaf Lettuce, for salad

Combine canned beans with pimiento and onion in medium-sized bowl. Blend sour cream with vinegar and mustard; stir in seasonings. Spoon over vegetables; mix lightly to coat. Chill several hours. To serve, spoon into lettuce-lined bowl. NOTE: To serve as hot vegetable, drain liquid from beans and heat several minutes. Drain, add remaining combined ingredients. Heat several additional minutes over low heat. Do not boil. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

SPANISH GAZPACHO

1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatine
1 18-oz. can tomato juice
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
2 tablespoons olive or salad oil
½ teaspoon salt
Few drops hot spicy sauce
Dash cracked black pepper
1 16-oz. can Green Beans, drained
1 medium cucumber, peeled and chopped
¼ cup diced green pepper
¼ cup minced onion
1 2½-oz. jar sliced mushrooms, drained (optional)

Add gelatine to tomato juice in small-sized saucepan. Heat several minutes over low heat, stirring frequently until gelatine is dissolved. Stir in vinegar, oil and seasonings. Cool slightly.

While tomato mixture is cooling, combine remaing ingredients in large-sized bowl. Stir in tomato mixture. Chill 4 to 5 hours or until mixture will mound up on a spoon. Serve cold in lettuce-lined salad bowls or in soup cups. Garnish with dollops of dairy sour cream and chopped chives, if desired. Yield: About 1 quart.

Fresh Fruit Pie Could Please Guest

A fresh fruit pie to please your family and guests.

Tomato Juice Wheat Crackers
Pot Roast with Vegetables
Tossed Green Salad
Fresh Peach Chiffon Pie

FRESH PEACH CHIFFON PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup of cold water
4 medium-sized fresh peaches, peeled and crushed (about 2 cups)
½ cup plus 2 tblsps. sugar
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 egg white
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
¼ teaspoon almond extract
9-inch baked pie shell

Soften gelatin in cold water; place over hot water to dissolve. Combine peaches, ½ cup sugar and lemon juice; add dissolved gelatin and mix well. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Add salt to egg white and beat until soft peaks form; beat in remaining 2 tablespoons sugar. Fold into peach mixture. Fold in heavy cream and almond extract. Turn into baked pie shell; chill until serving time. Garnish with additional whipped cream and sliced peaches, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Try Shirred Eggs, Beans For Breakfast

Omit eggs from the breakfast menu the day you serve this dish for lunch.

Shirred Eggs with Beans
English Muffins Green Salad
Fruit Compoete Vanilla Waffers

SHIRRED EGGS WITH BEANS

1 can (15½ ounces) beans in barbecue sauce
6 eggs
3 tablespoons grated cheddar cheese

In a small saucepan, stirring occasionally, heat the beans in barbecue sauce until very hot. Turn into 3 round individual ovenglass pie dishes (6 inches across and 1 inch deep). Carefully break 2 eggs over the hot beans in each dish. Sprinkle with grated cheese; cover tightly with foil, but do not let foil touch top. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) until eggs are set as much as you like—about 25 minutes for well-set whites with slightly soft yolks. Serve at once in baking dishes. Pass salt and pepper. Makes 3 large servings.

Make Saucy Chicken Dish Well Ahead

Prepare this main course ahead and bake shortly before serving.

Saucy Chicken and Noodles
Popovers
Cucumber Salad
Ice Cream with Fruit Sauce

SAUCY CHICKEN AND NOODLES

4 ounces spaghetti, broken into short lengths and cooked according to package directions
1 can (3 ounces) mushrooms, drained
1½ cups cooked cubed chicken, preferably white meat
Special Sauce (see below)
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
Paprika

In a mixing bowl, mix together the drained spaghetti, mushrooms, chicken and Special Sauce. Turn into the oblong 1½ quart glass baking dish (10 by 6 by 1¾ inches). Cover and chill. At serving time sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and paprika. Bake in a preheated hot over (400 degrees) until sauce bubbles and mixture is hot through—about 25 minutes. Makes 4 small servings.

SPECIAL SAUCE: Make a white sauce using 4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup mildly seasoned chicken broth and 1 cup milk; off heat stir in ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese and 2 tablespoons dry sherry.

Many Ideas In Making a Pizza

If your family loves pizza, don't miss the trick of turning leftovers into their favorite treat. Meat loaf, roast beef wieners, sausage, tuna, salmon or shrimp may be used this way. Make biscuit dough and pat it lightly into a large size pizza. Spread with leftover meat or fish. Top with ketchup. Add bits of cheese. Season lightly with thyme and paprika. Place on a buttered cooky sheet and bake in a hot oven until the dough is lightly browned and cooked through and the cheese is melted and bubbly.

Beer-B-Que Seasoning Ideas

What is more fun than a bar-b-que? A beer-b-que!

Dishes that have been served on your patio before take on a new aura of delicate flavor and a party air when you plan a menu with beer as a cooking ingredient as well as the beverage of the evening. As one of the world's oldest and greatest seasoning agents, beer turns the most ordinary foods into outstanding party fare, adding a subtle quality to a surprising number of dishes.

Your friends' curiosity and sense of fun will be piqued by your invitation to a swinging beer-b-que. What to serve? Cheese dip appetizers, chips, pretzels, followed by chicken, spareribs or frankfurters barbecued in beer sauce; ranch house beans; potato salad with beer dressing and cheese bread. All can be prepared with beer as a seasoning. The alcohol evaporates in cooking.

CHEESE DIP: In modern dips based on cheese or a combination of cheeses, a little beer in the mixture adds a zingy flavor.

BARBECUE SAUCE: 1 cup beer, 1¼ cups chili sauce, 2 tbsp. grated onion, 2 tbsp. vinegar, 2 tsp. sugar, 2 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce, 2 tsp. chili powder. Combine all ingredients in saucepan, bring to boil and cook 2 minutes. Makes about 3 cups.

RANCH HOUSE BEANS: 12 cups cooked pinto or pink beans or 6 (1-lb. 4-oz.) cans, 2 sliced onions, ½ pound piece of bacon cut into 1-inch cubes, 1 cup chili sauce, 1 clove chopped garlic, 2 tbsp. firmly packed dark brown sugar, 1 quart beer, salt, pepper. Drain beans and mix with other ingredients. Simmer, uncovered, for 1 hour or until liquid is absorbed. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Yield: 12 servings.

BEER POTATO SALAD DRESSING: ½ cup diced onions, 3 tbsp. salad oil, 2 tbsp. flour, 1½ tsp. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper, 2 tsp sugar, 1½ cups beer, ¼ cup cider vinegar. Saute onions in oil for 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Blend in flour, salt, pepper, sugar. Gradually add beer and vinegar, stirring constantly to the boiling point. Cook over low heat 5 minutes. Cool slightly and pour over potatoes. Makes about 1¾ cups.

CHEESE FRENCH BREAD: 4 cups (1 pound) finely grated natural Swiss cheese, 1 tsp. dry mustard, ¼ tsp. garlic powder, 2 tbsp. tomato paste, few drops Tabasco, approximately ¼ cup beer, 2 long loaves French bread. Mix cheese, mustard, garlic powder, tomato paste and Tabasco with enough beer to make a spreadable mixture. Cut bread into 1-inch crosswise slices, not quite all the way through. Spread mixture between slices. Wrap loaf tightly in foil, bake at 400 degree F. for 10 to 15 minutes. Serve hot.

The easiest way to serve your beer? If you are having all the gang and the refrigerator is chockful, fill a large tub with ice cubes and bury bottles or cans of beer in ice. For a decorative touch, tuck real or artificial flowers into the bucket. For larger groups, draft beer can add a festive note. (A quarter keg—7¾ gals.—will serve 12-18; a half keg, 14-30).

Yes, you and your friends find there is one thing more fun in the good old summertime than a bar-b-que—your beer-b-que!

Spongettes Half Cake, Half Custard

After baking, this dessert has a cak-like bottom, a custard top.

Beef and Vegetable Pie
Salad Bowl Bread Tray
Spongettes Beverage

SPONGETTES

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2-3 cup sugar
2 large eggs, separated
2 tablespoons flour
¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
1 cup milk

Cream butter and sugar; thoroughly beat in egg yolks, then four and orange juice concentrate. Gently beat in milk, keeping smooth. With clean beater beat egg whites until they hold stiff straight peaks; add to other mixture and beat gently to blend. Turn into 5 six-ounce buttered ovenglass custard cups. Place cups in a pan of hot water, having water come nearly to top of mixture. Bake in a moderate ovem (375 degrees) for 35 minutes. Chill and unmold, removing any custard that doesn't turn out with a small spatula. Garnish, if you like, with unsweetened, or only slightly sweetened, whipped cream. Makes 5 servings.

Beet Salad That's Easy To Prepare

Easy to make and different.

Creamed Shrimp on Rice
Bean and Beet Salad
Plum Cobbler Beverage

BEAN AND BEAT SALAD

4 tablespoons olive oil
4 tblsps. red wine vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
1 can (15½ ounces) French-style green beans, drained
1 small onion, sliced thin and separated into rings
1 can (1 pound) shoestring beets, drained
Lettuce

In a shallow container, beat together with a fork 2 tablespoons of the oil, 2 tablespoons of the vinegar and ¼ teaspoon of the salt. Mix in the beans and onion rings; cover and refrigerate for several hours. In another shallow container, beat together the remaining 2 tablespoons oil, 2 tablespoons vinegar and ¼ teaspoon salt. Mix in the beets; cover and refrigerate for several hours. At serving time arrange the two vegetable mixtures, with their marinade, in two separate mounds, on lettuce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Norris Palmer - Fred Winter Open Carito's

LIST THESE TWO NAMES in your "Who's Who in the Peninsula Restaurant Parade" — Norris Palmer and Fred Winter, new host-owners of the beautiful Carito's Garden restaurant (formerly the Charm Garden), located in the Carlmont Shopping Center, Ralston Avenue and Alameda, in Belmont. The name Carito's was most interestingly derived: Ca stands for Carol, Fred's wife; ri, from Richard, and to for Tom, Fred's two sons. The s is for success, which is sure to be theirs. "Carito's is where good ol' American food is served," commented Norris Palmer with great enthusiasm. Surrounded by large windows on three sides, the dining room, which seats 60 persons, affords a grand view of majestic trees, an informal garden and a friendly, little waterfall. An intimate cocktail lounge is situated just off the entrance. Plenty of free parking space for luncheon and dinner patrons. Not open Sundays.

AUGIE AND PHYLISS APRILE report business at their Augie's on Third Avenue is at an all-time high as a result of running Augie's menu in their advertisement on Bright Lights, last Friday. Why don't you, too, take advantage of the special filet dinner. Banquet and club meetings are solicited . . . Bob and Dorothy Masuda will close their Fuji Sukiyaki Japanese restaurant, August 28 through September 6 for their annual vacation. Reopen September 7 . . . Special "Happy Birthday" greetings to Cathy Sears on her sixteenth. The hungry i was the scene of celebration. Cathy is a member of the Hillsdale Scroll staff. Friday was the night for the reopening of Guido Bianchina and Joe Selmi's J and G restaurant, which was closed during the summer months for vacation. Featuring Italian cuisine — from Minestrone Soup to Chicken Cacciatore, the friendly J and G hours are 4:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. A regular diner here is Mike Facceli (he's one of the starting pitchers for the Mets), who "trains on Scallopine." Richard Bianchina, Guido's son, was "battery mate" for Mike during their college days.

LEW LEHR reminds Yours Truly that his Steak House in SF's Marina is open on Monday nights for steak or lobster tail dinners for private parties up to 125 people . . . Besides finding a lengthy line eagerly waiting to get in the Coffee Shop of the Holiday Inn, South San Francisco, last week, your Bright Lighter found Claude Schroeder pondering where he was going to seat mid-day luncheon patrons. No doubt, the Rapp brothers will soon be talking of creating additional facilities . . . Woody Woodington, one of the best sing-along music providers ever to tap the "ivories", is currently presiding at the organ bar in the lounge of the Fork 'n' Cork. Woody, who has appeared in many of the top niteries around Sacramento, entertains in the "Cork" room nightly, Wednesday through Saturday . . . Popular beginner for a gourmet dinner at Doros is Prosciutto and melon, a delicious Italian delicacy.

Lew Lehr

Firm believers in old-fashioned family togetherness, Yolanda Dean, owner of Yolanda's Terminal Cafe and Lounge in South San Francisco, and Manager Chuck Winstead have come up with what has to be a dine-out coup. They are offering six-course "old country" family-style Italian dinners for the remarkable low price of just $3 per person (for adults). For the quantity and quality of the food involved, a price such as this is almost unheard of. In addition, it also includes a seven ounce bottle of wine. Children (under 12) are half price, $1.50. For most, Yolanda's is conveniently in the way at the Golden Gate Produce Terminal. Yolanda's is a route to a satisfying dining experience.

A FESTIVE "WELCOME HOME" PARTY honoring popular ex-restaurateur Dino Boneso and his wife, who just returned from a leisurely cruise around the world, was hosted last week by Tom Zucchelli and Bruno Fava at Bruno's of San Mateo. Over 150 close friends and cohorts showed up to welcome the Bonesos back, and to feast on the polenta, chicken and rabbit which Bruno graciously provided. To top off the evening, a mammoth "Welcome Home" cake was presented by good friend Tommy, who was once Dino's business partner . . . Phil Rauscher, general manager of the International Inn restaurant, is always on the go. A "seasoned" yet youthful veteran in the art of feeding and pleasing people, Rauscher currently divides his time between duties at the South San Francisco restaurant and the company's newest addition, Pepperwood Lodge, in Marin County.

Annual Shadows–Cap'ns Cabin Golf Tournament Set

The Annual Shadows-Cap'ns Cabin Golf Tournament is scheduled for Monday, Sept. 11. Linksmen wishing to participate had betty hurry to sign up. Slated for the Green Hills Country Club, the entrance fee is $30 and includes golf, cart, lunch and dinner. Tee time will be 11:30 a.m., with prizes galore being offered for the various winners. Those fortunate enough to capture every golfer's dream, "a hole-in-one," Shadows' owner and auto mogul Dave Rasmussen will present them with a new Volkswagen, direct from his local outlet in San Mateo. Dave seems to have as many VW's buzzing around the Peninsula as he has prize-winning cattle on his ranch in Oregon.

Another Roabees "Price Stampede" Bargains Galore

It's "Festival Time" at Roabees, across from Hillsdale, Monday through Thursday of next week. Owner Joe Acosta will present a festive family treat sure to be an ease on the family's pocketbook. As an August feat for hungry bargain hunters, Joe's heaping Roast Beef Sandwiches will be sold in groups (up to four) with prices dropping 10 cents for each Roabee purchased. A family of four, for example, can enjoy Roabees for as little as $2.16. When you consider that a Roabee Sandwich, bar-b-que roasted and served on a sesame bun, at it's regular price of 69 cents is one of the greatest food values on the Peninsula, you suddenly realize what a true bargain can be found here next week.

If the table cloths in the elegant Wellington Room at Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco look expensive — they are! They are made of the finest tapestry cloth and cost Phil $60 each.

Joe and Lou Ercoli are busily consulting an architect regarding expansion of their nationally recognized Leaning Tower in South San Francisco. The two industrious brothers recently added a new parking lot to accommodate their numerous patrons, but it seems that now they need more table space.

Villa Hotel Is Celebrity Favorite

Spotted at the Upper Level: Hovering over a delicious steak was Kin Vassey, "leading singer and front man" of the group known as The Christy Minstrel Prototypes. The distinction "Mod" identity is apparently "in" for a long run. Here, though in the group calling themselves the "Back Porch Majority," is the mod trend — impeccably groomed and attired. A highly welcome group of guests visiting the Villa Hotel during a recent Peninsula engagement.

"Dancing Chef" Balkan Village

Chef Peter Maglaras, who creates such authentic Greek dishes as "Pastitso" (meat baked in layers with macaroni, egg and cheese sauce) at the Balkan Village, frequently abandons the kitchen to do a rousing Greek dance with owner Louie Gundunas. But he's always back to the pots and pans to prepare your order on time.

Frank Gorshin, the acter, singer, comedian, impressionist, and a man who has as many talents as he does faces, has just completed his first week in what appears to be a smash three-weeks' engagement in the Fairmont's Venetian Room. An entertainer who is considered to be a performer's performer, Gorshin does a little of everything during the show. He garners special applause with his uncanny imitations of movements, voices and facial expressions of well-known celebrities.

Excellent Mexican Food Served At The El Patio

The El Patio, in Menlo Park, is a delightfully different type of Mexican restaurant set in an atmosphere of an open air patio. Menu choices run the full range of tempting Mexican dishes, with chef Robert Artiz, formerly of the Cliff House, being responsible for the kitchen creations. Judging from its popularity with many of the Peninsula's most famous people, the El Patio, owned by Jim Llewellyn, is destined to become a landmark.

Amateur Topless Night at the Brass Rail is every Wednesday. The house fills early for these weekly attractions, which feature some of the most attractive secretaries, housewives on the Peninsula displaying their talents. The winner receives a prize and the inevitable request for an encore. Professional entertainment is provided by Topless Tara and her trained snake, and MGM recording star Dale Williams.

Carnival Time King's Bowl In Millbrae

The Second Annual Bowling Carnival is currently taking place at the Millbrae King's Bowl. Besides lowered rates on bowling lines, special prices will be effective in the adjacent Blue Peacock restaurant and lounge. During Carnival time, through September 5, Bar Manager Lou Dapello and his staff of plankmen will be blending cocktails for 50 cents per, and offering thirst quenching draft beer for only 25 cents a glass.

Veal Scallopini, smothered with mushrooms, is just one menu item for which Chef Amelio Maldonado of Fabbro's has gained fame. Amelio, who practically lists the entire menu as his specialty, is in a class by himself when it comes to preparing old-fashioned Italian dinners at this well sought-out Redwood City restaurant.

Special note to Bea and Bob Schadel at the Baywood Pantry: If you've wondered what happened to Yours Truly, these last few mornings, the reason is that Mr. Joseph Cohen, president and general manager of Bay Meadows, is on a diet and the morning pastries I usually take to the Track for "coffee and" are now limited to once-a-week. However, I don't think this will last for long.

Newlyweds' First Home In South San Francisco

St. Matthew's Catholic Church was the setting for Saturday's wedding of Verna Lee Uehling and Robert Anthony Pianca. The Very Rev. Msgr. Eugene Gallagher of San Mateo officiated at the 3:30 p.m. ceremony.

Verna, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon D. Uehling of Ankeny, Iowa, recited her vows in an Empire gown of white cord silk with a train complemented with a lace mantilla. She carried white butterfly orchids on a white Bible.

Mary Long was Verna's honor attendant and Mackie Dalrymple, the bridesmaid. They both wore Empire gowns of pink chiffon and carried pink carnations on white Bibles.

Andy Ferrari served as best man for Robert, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Antone Pianca of South San Francisco. Vincent Bianchini, Clark Uehling and Joe Clardy seated the guests.

After a reception at the International Inn in South San Francisco, the couple left for two weeks in the Hawaiian Islands before returning to their first home in South San Francisco.

The new matron is a teacher with the San Mateo Elementary School District. Her husband is in the building industry.

Car Wash To Aid Orphans

The Pacific Telephone Company operators of the Colma Branch office, desiring to help orphans enjoy a Merry Christmas, have started a number of projects to finance this goal.

One of the first projects under the program will be a car wash, to be held August 26 (Saturday) from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the corner of Washington and Sullivan streets in Colma.

Cost of the wash will be 99 cents.

The operators have responded to the project wholeheartedly and will be "rarin' to go" according to a spokesman for the group.

Westlake Home For Justweds

Honeymooning in Carmel before returning to live in Westlake, are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Dean Wechsler (Beverly Kay McAlavey).

The couple was married recently at the Westlake Lutheran Church and received felicitations at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. McAlavey of Daly City.

Beverly, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a bell-shaped street-length silk dress, with a lace overjacket. A pearl tiara caught her shoulder-length veil.

Barbara McAlavey, her sister's sole attendant, wore a pink crepe street-length Empire costume.

Ted De Friese was best man, and ushers were Donald Ritzman and Wally Langosch.

Westlake Center To Host Square Dance Festival

More than 100 colorfully costumed square dancers from Daly City and San Francisco will converge on Westlake Shopping Center Saturday, to participate in a Country-Western Hoe-Down and Square Dance Festival. Time is 1 to 2:30 p.m.

Professional callers Don Black and Don Shotwell head the dancers and will share directional duties.

Black is head called for the Daly City Kalico Kats' Club, while Shotwell handles the San Francisco Bachelors 'n Bachelorettes.

There are more than 200 square dance clubs in Northern California, representing 10,000 dancers. The dancers have their own association, which annually sponsors the Golden State Roundup in Oakland.

An Opportunity To Thank Police

Once a year the public has an opportunity to thank the members of its police departments for their efforts.

It's through supporting the annual Peninsula Police Officers Association that a citizen can express his appreciation for a job well done that often goes beyond the call of duty or scope of salary.

On Sept. 9, the 39th annual ball sponsored by the Association will be held at the Thunderbolt Hotel in Millbrae from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets costing only $1 each have been sent to households throughout San Mateo county.

The proceeds from the ball go to the Widows and Orphans Fund of the police association. It enables the organization to receive $6,000 in the event an officer is killed in the line of duty or $3,000 should he die of natural causes.

In an accompanying letter sent out with the tickets, the association points out, "The proceeds are used to further the assistance of our non-profit Widows and Orphans Aid and Welfare Fund.

"The growth of our community has necessitated an increase in the number of officers needed to protect your homes and has also brought about a growth in the risks involved. In the future, as in the past, this organization will with your faithful support, attempt to make things easier for those affected. . . ."

Wine-Tasting Party Set For Pacifica

This Friday, August 25th from 6:30 to 8:00 p.m., Nick's Rockaway restaurant banquet room will be the setting for a wine-tasting party given by the Pacifica Auxiliary of the Family Service Agency.

There will be a variety of cheeses — Samsoe, Haverti, Tybo, Essrom and Danablue — all donated by the Denmark Cheese Association.

Pacifica Aims To Reduce 'Slippage'

Pacifica City Manager C. W. Masonheimer last week recommended creation of a department of finance within the city administration in order to reduce chances of "loss and slippage" in the handling of funds.

In a memorandum to council members at a budget study meeting Tuesday, the manager requested a budget allotment of $8,265 for organization of the new department and appointment of a director of finance.

Masonheimer said the city's present fiscal operations are "fragmatized," with cashiering, accounting, purchasing, licensing administration, gas tax accounting and other functions separate and "virtually unaudited" except at the end of the fiscal year.

"There is a built in danger of loss and slippage in this decentralized organization, and a lack of awareness of what is going on," he said.

"Reporting, an important function of finance administration, is very difficult because of this lack of overall control. Also, treasury deposits are often delayed, reducing idle fund earnings and increasing the danger of loss by theft, fire or mistake," the manager said.

Masonheimer said the city would be able to eliminate a secretarial position in the Public Works Department if part of the section's accounting burden is removed, and an increase in revenue from sales tax and use tax collection would also result from the reorganization.

The secretarial position in the Public Works Department is currently vacant.

"The reorganization will result in savings sufficient to offset a considerable portion of the new department head's salary," Masonheimer said.

Councilmen will act upon the proposal, along with the manager's other budget proposals, at their regular meeting next Wednesday.

Pacifica Bluebook To Be Distributed

The 1967-68 "Tenth Anniversary" edition of the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce's traditional "Blue Book"—a complete business directory and civic guidebook—will be distributed this week to all homes and firms in Pacifica.

Bernard Lake, chamber of commerce manager, announced that the 56-page edition would be distributed by a circulation service on August 24-25-26.

The Blue Book is dedicated to the Tenth Anniversary of the City of Pacifica's incorporation —November 22, 1957.

A special community committee is shaping detailed plans for a citywide celebration of the anniversary, Lake added to explain the Chamber's decision to spotlight the milestone.

The new directory's cover highlights, in blue tones, such community showcases of history and the present as the Sanchez Adobe; Terra Nova and Oceana High Schools, the infamous USS Johnson, a retired destroyer escort that went aground last year in Pacifica and became a sightseer's attraction; the area's awesome, scenic seascape; as well as a young fisherman taking advantage of the coastal city's noted striped bass run.

Inside the varied city, county, state and emergency information is included on separate blue pages, a new feature this year to make it easier to find important numbers.

The booklet also includes church and organizational listings and telephone numbers, as well as a brief summary of the community's historical stature and other easily found information.

Manager Lake said 11,000 of the handy 8½ by 5½ booklets are available for distribution.

Persons who do not receive a directory by September 1 are urged to contact Lake at the Chamber office, phone 355-4122.

"I then will see," Lake promised "that a copy of this vital community publication is sent to them."

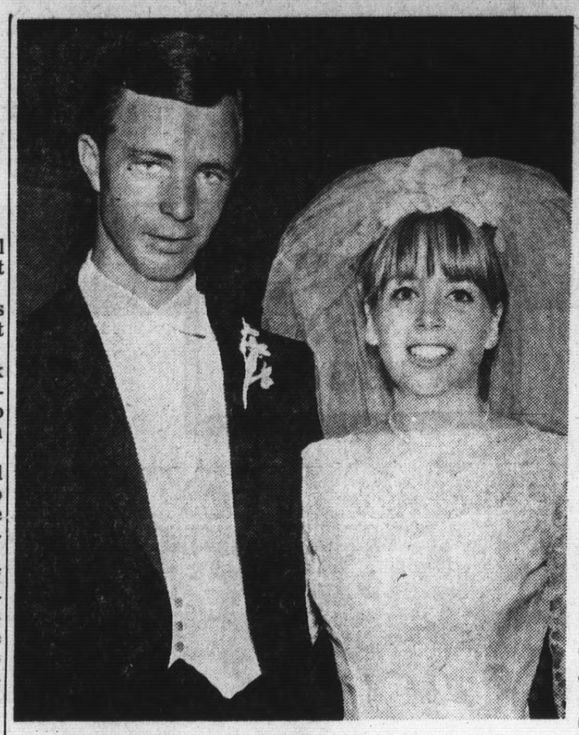
Lake pointed out that this year's directory is the largest published in its history.

"Each year the Blue Book continues to get bigger and better," Lake said, "appearing to indicate the merchants see a distinct value to it!"

He added, "This speaks well for both the merchants who urge its use and of the people who have responded and are using it."

Delivery of the bundles of Blue Books to the Chamber early this week climaxed a six-month effort by Lake and the chamber committee named to assist the manager with planning and production of the issue.

"Even though this year's books are just off the press, we are making plans already for the 1968-69 edition," Lake declared.



THE RUSSELL JOHNSES (Vicki Holmgren)

Opera Group Is Offering Memberships

The Opera Variety Theater, now in its 13th year, is presenting "The Merry Widow" in the Bay Area. Performances have been given in Pacifica, Corte Madera, Petaluma, and Novato, and more are on schedule for fall and winter.

There are several memberships available. Preference will be given those who have studied (or are studying) singing, dancing, or dramatics — or who have experience in these fields. Instrumentalists (especially strings or piano), will be selected from advanced students.

It is the ultimate intention of The Opera Variety Theater to establish a repertory company in San Francisco which will present a variety of music and drama all through the year.

Vicki Helmgren, Russell Johns Exchange Vows

The Temple Baptist Church in San Francisco was the setting for the recent wedding of Vicki Holmbren and Russell Johns. The Rev. M. G. Berglund officiated at the 8 p.m. ceremony.

Vicki is the daughter of Mrs. Irene Holmgren of Daly City. Her husband is the son of Mrs. C. Hildebrand and of Colma and Russell Johns of Sunnyvale.

Given in marriage by her brother, Ross Holmgren, the bride was attended by Wendy Warfield as maid of honor and Diane Perry and Lorry Chessman as bridesmaids. Nancy Holmgren and Kathy Johns were candlelighters.

Roger Dooley stood with Russell as best man, and the guests were seated by Ed Baumgarten, Bob Miller, Barry Pollack and Larry Bolander.

Both the bride and benedict are graduates of Westmoor High School. Russell also attended the College of San Mateo. After a wedding tour of the Hawaiian Islands, they will be at home in Daly City.

Marian KC's Attend Joint Installation

Marian Council, No. 3773, Knights of Columbus attended a five-council installation of officers August 28 in the Knights of Columbus Hall in San Mateo.

District Deputy Richard Ertola officiated the installation of fifty officers from Marian Council of Daly City, Colma, and Pacifica; San Mateo Council of San Mateo; Notre Dame Council of San Carlos; Fr. Peter York Council of San Bruno; Fr. Catala Council of Redwood City.

Marian Council recently announced the appointment of Chancellor James Haug to the chairmanship of area public relations.

Haug currently is the Council's public relations chairman and Archbishop Alemany General Assembly (4th degree Knights of Columbus) public relations chairman. He lives in Pacifica and is employed by Cala Foods, Inc. in Daly City.

He will be working with nine other councils in an attempt to improve public relations between the KC's and the news media.

Faithful Navigator Al Cortes has announced that the installation of Archbishop Alemany General Assembly Officers (4th Degree Knights of Columbus) was August 10.

It was the first time the 4th Degree opened installation of officers to the general public.

Officers installed were: Albert Cortez, Faithful Navigator; Charlie B. Francchia, Captain; Robert Simon, Pilot; Raymond Tschirgi, Comptroller; Robert Esquer, Purser; Edwin Edwards, Scribe; Angelo Mallamo, Inside Sentanel; James Aug; Outside Sentanel; Francis S. Fashey, Admiral.

Trustees were Thomas E. Shimer, three years; Bernard Bovyer, two years; and Louis Thiebaut, one year.

Archbishop Alemany General Assembly includes the Daly City to Redwood City section of the Peninsula.

The Marian Council recently held its fireworks dinner at Nick's Rockaway, in Pacifica, to celebrate the successful Fireworks Sale this year.

The Council usually awards one scholarship a year, but because of the public response, it was able to award two additional scholarships.

After dinner, Grand Knight Frank Teter made a special award to James Haug, the Fireworks Chairman, for his work and devotion to the Council. He received the Man of the Month Award and the Merit Award.

The Merit Award is not new to the Knights, but Jim is the 1st to receive it in a year, and the 1st to receive the Man of the Month Award.

Vows Recited

Arlene Cline and Elwood Trost recited their marriage vows recently at the First Presbyterian Church of Burlingame before the Rev. Lawrence Irons.

Arleen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn C. Cline of San Bruno, wore a gown of brocade antique lace and pearls over satin.

She was attended by Alberta Kenney, matron of honor, Nancy Woodworth, Sue Bush, Karen Russ, Diane Canggiano and Laurie Tweedie, cousin of the bride. Erica Benson was the flower girl.

Elwin Trost stood with his twin brother as best man. Both are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Trost of Casper, Wyo. Seating the guests were Clyde Cola, and Rick Trost, cousins of the benedict, Chuck Trost, uncle of the benedict, Chuck Cline, brother of the bride, and Jim Kalkowski.

After a reception at the Burlingame Woman's Club, they left for a wedding trip to Wyoming. They are living in Burlingame.

Cow Palace Seeks Queens For National

The search is on for all poised and pretty girls who can ride horseback to compete for one of the four queen titles for the 1967 Grand National, October 27 through November 5 at the Cow Palace.

Entries are now open for selection of a Rodeo Queen, Horse Show Queen, Livestock Queen and Miss 1967 Grand National to reign throughout the exciting ten-day exposition.

Girls wishing to enter should send their name, address, telephone number, age, and if possible, a photo. to Contest Manager, Cow Palace, P.O. Box 34206, San Francisco, 94134. Entries must be postmarked not later than midnight Saturday, September 9. Judging will be the following Tuesday, September 12.

Contestants must be at least 17 years old, and if living within a 100-mile radius of the Cow Palace, must be able to provide their own horse. Mounts will be available at the Cow Palace for all others.

Judging will be based on riding ability, beauty, poise and personality.

Winning queens will ride in the grand entry events at all arena performances, make personal appearances and participate in special civic events and parades.

A new format for the Grand National with all-star spectacular arena shows will this year feature guest stars Eva Gabor on October 27, Jim Nabors (Gomer Pyle) on October 28-29, Eddie Albert (October 30-31), Wayne Newton (November 1-2) and The Young Americans (November 3-4-5). Television comic Pat Buttram will appear at all performances.

D.C. Rubbish Fire Fought

A stack of rubbish, set out for scavengers on an outside leading deck, caught fire behind the Mayfair Market at 2665 Geneva Street in Daly City last Tuesday.

A sprinkler system, touched off by 20-feet-high flames, extinguished most of the blaze, a fire department spokesman said.

Firemen spent the better part of an hour cleaning up the leading area.

No damage to the building itself was reported.

D.C. Youth Is Arrested

A 19-year-old Daly City youth was arrested this week for possession of marijuana, after a policeman "accidentally" spotted the narcotic on a table on the boy's Longview Avenue home.

Officers Fred Holewinske and Russ Cunningham reported, they were questioning the suspect, Stephen Hurlburt, on another matter and "just happened to see what looked like a bag of marijuana on the table."

Closer examination revaled not only the marijuana, but several items used in connection with dangerous drugs, including a hypodermic syringe, Cunningham said.

SSF Community Group Organized

The newly formed South San Francisco Community Action Council, encouraged with the response from the community, recently held its second meeting and selected Mr. and Mrs. Jose Torres co-chairman of the entertainment committee, assisted by Jose Vasquez and Juan Cano.

This new organization had its start in conjunction with the War on Poverty program. The Human Resources Commission of San Mateo County, working with President Johnson's program, requested there be a commissioner to represent South San Francisco.

Ultimately an election was held in the Spanish-speaking community and a commissioner elected, who then very shortly had to resign because of other commitments. The HRC then requested South San Francisco form a Community Action Council with Manual Bernal, president; Hugo Iriate, vice-president pro tem; Miss Alejandra Gomez, secretary, and Juan Cano, treasurer.

The Council is busy trying to find employment for Spanish youth in the area and has obtained jobs for seven boys aged 16 to 18.

Jose Medrano, president of the San Mateo County Youth Corps, attended this second meeting of the group and offered his help to the Spanish speaking youths seeking employment.

An invitation has been extended to any Spanish speaking citizens of South San Francisco to join the group by Mrs. Elizabeth De Renzo, public relations chairman. Further information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. De Renzo or Bernal.

N. County Fete For Whitmore

A group of North County civic and business leaders announced plans today for a mammoth "Night with Earl Whitmore," in support of his election campaign for Congress.

The special event is scheduled for Wednesday, October 11, at the South San Francisco Elks Club.

Planning Commission chairman McRobert Stewart of Daly City heads a large committee making arrangements for the dinner.

An informal reception at 6:30 p.m. will precede the 8 o'clock dinner.

Stewart said today a capacity crowd of more than 300 Whitmore friends, both Republicans and Democrats, are expected to attend.

Tickets for the event which is open to the public, will be available beginning next week.

The Whitmore Night is planned as the major pre-election gathering of the campaign in the North County area.

STAN E. Kumas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kumas, of 344 Acacia Street, Daly City, recently was discharged from the Army at Ft. Dix, N.J. Kumas was a mess sergeant with the 1st Bn., 94th Artillery in Germany. A former Jefferson High student Kumas was one of 44 volunteers who set a May, 1957, record of 21 hours on a 52-mile hike.

Gunmen Beat Man In D.C.

A pair of gunmen severely beat a liquor store employee in Daly City last night before fleeing with more than $1,600.

The victim, Don Banks, 33, was treated at Mary's Help Hospital for severe lacerations and a consussion of the head following the incident, police said.

Banks told police one of the men entered the store shortly before midnight and began asking questions.

As he turned away from the man he felt "something hard sticking in my back."

While facing the wall, another man entered the store, walked up to Banks and began hitting him on the head, apparently with a blackjack, police said.

He fell bleeding and unconscious to the floor of the store, where he lay for seveal minutes after the men left.

Banks could offer no reason for the vicious beating.

Following the apparently unprovoked attack, the pair cleaned out the cash register and fled.

Ice Cream Mfr. For Cabot Park

The 38th company to move into the Cabot, Cabot & Forbes Office-Industrial Park in South San Francisco is Tomales Bay Creamery Inc.

Tomales Bay will build a 24,000 square foot building on 1.1 acres on the west side of Eccles Avenue to house its offices and one of the most modern ice-cream manufacturing plants in the West. The company has been operating in the Bay Area since 1918. Aberthaw Construction Co. of South San Francisco is contractor for the building.

LSD Charge Jails Brunan

A "routine check" of a parked car by an alert San Bruno policeman early this Monday led to the arrest of a San Francisco man for possession of marijuana and LSD.

Officer Bill Martin said he spotted a car parked on San Bruno Avenue with three men inside shortly after 2:30 a.m. and decided to "give it a routine check."

As he was questioning one of the occupants, Richard O. Marcelin, 23, of 426 Fillmore Street, San Francisco, he discovered the man was wanted on several outstanding traffic warrants in San Francisco and arrested him.

During a subsequent search of the suspect, police allegedly found a small can containing marijuana and what was believed to be several LSD pills, plus a hypodermic syringe.

Police said they also found an unloaded 32 caliber pistol in Marcelin's waistband.

The suspect was scheduled for arraignment in northern Judicial District Court Monday morning.
